If Battles Were Near Exploring the Cosmos The Pound Goes Up Early John D. Gifts

What is near us, we notice. Senate and House will investigate the Washington theatre disaster. All the city's theatres close. An important White House reception is abandoned. The President, deeply moved, writes of the uncertainty of fate. The lives involved number a few over a hundred.

The least skirmish in war would kill a greater number. If those that make laws could be as near the battlefields as they were to that crashing theatre roof, perhaps wars would be postponed indefinitely. At least we would be ready for them.

Washington sees in the disaster another reminder that self government is desirable. The resident of Washington is a man without a vote, without power in his government. He does not run his own local affairs, cannot even vote for or against Congressmen that act for him.

If Washington could vote to protect itself and punish careless officials, it might have better building laws, better enforcement of laws existing.

Shackleton, English explorer, is dead. He was a brave man, one of many that have put England's flag all over the earth. Death found him exploring the south polar regions. Where is he exploring now? Whither has he gone, South or North, up, down, or off to one side, in a universe that has no top or bottom? Does the soul travel with the speed of light, 186,000 miles a second. If so, according to the scientist Poincare, brother of the French Premier, it would take Shackleton's spirit 18,500,000 years to travel across the Milky Way, our corner of space. Does the spirit travel with the speed of thought, that reaches to the most distant star in one-tenth of a second? Or does it stay right here working while this earth lasts, and then move on? What would you give for Shackleton's report of the first 24 hours on his latest exploration, the journey that you will have to make in due time, and all alone?

The English pound sterling went up again yesterday, "on excited buying," and the dollar of our Canadian friends is almost at the way up to par. This means that the English are selling goods, doing business, their money is in demand to pay for things bought from them. Over there they develop statesmen, instead of politicians, and diplomats instead of the sentimental "I love everybody" type of goose.

England, like the Catholic Church lasts and grows in power, because she understands changing conditions.

She sets Ireland free, or almost, when Ireland proves that she is going to have freedom. And now there is talk of giving Egypt relativity, in the way of freedom. And mark this: England will do the thing so ingeniously that Egypt will demand the right to stay in the British Empire and brag about being "British" as proudly as any Canadian. The English know how to colonize.

Sit on them as long as you can, and when they get up, make them think you picked them up.

John D. Rockefeller, Jr., told his Bible class last Sunday: "When my father was paying one dollar a week for his lodging he gave five cents a week to foreign missions and five cents a week to the poor." In all the world's history, there has probably been no more remarkable fulfillment of the text about casting your bread on the water and getting it back with compound interest. The ordinary man will observe that, anyhow, it pays to be systematic. Yesterday Mr. Rockefeller, senior, announced that trustees of a certain fund established by him were at liberty to give away, or use as they pleased, $5,000,000 of the principal, loaned over originally with the stipulation that the interest only was to be spent.

Mr. Anderson, most energetic of the fighting prohibitionists, says prohibition must raise and spend at least a million a year to keep Congress from going "wet." Enforcing prohibition, he says, costs the government one hundred millions a year, but the good drinks and wicked wets alike can be taxed to pay that. The million a year to keep Congress dry the good must raise among themselves.

If it costs the people $100,000,000 a year to enforce one constitutional amendment, how fortunate that we have not got a dozen like it. But if the country could be made genuinely willing and wisely temperate, $100,000,000 a year would be cheap.

EARTHQUAKE ROCKS GLOBE

GREATEST SHOCK IN YEARS IS RECORDED

Prof. Lawson of California Estimates It Shook Earth Twenty-fifth of an Inch

By International News Service.

Berkeley, Cal., Jan. 31.—The entire earth was rocked one twenty-fifth of an inch by today's earthquake, Professor A. O. Lawson said in a statement issued today after checking readings on the seismograph at the University of California.

The earthquake was recorded here on a seismograph so adjusted as to register only very heavy shocks. It began most abruptly and was so violent the recording pens were thrown from their course. It started at 4:18 and lasted until 8 a. m. Professor Lawson estimated the centre to have been within 600 miles of here.

Harvard Expert Estimates Disturbance 2,778 Miles Away

An unusually severe earthquake shock, apparently only 2,800 miles distant, was recorded on the seismograph at Harvard University today.

The shocks was so violent that it temporarily placed the recording instruments out of commission. The vibrations were first recorded at 8:24 a. m.

Professor Jay B. Woodworth, director, estimated that the disturbance was about 2,778 miles distant.

Believed to Be on West Coast of South America

By Associated Press.

New York, Jan. 31.—Geologists here seeking to locate the earthquake which today shattered seismographs in various parts of the United States, estimated that the shock originated along the west coast of South America, somewhere between the Panama Canal Zone and Ecuador.

While none of the scientists claimed definitely to have located the source of the shock, Dr. Chester A. Reeds,

JURY ACTS IN BANK PROBE

Secret Indictments Reported Following Cosmopolitan Trust Investigation

The Suffolk County Grand Jury today returned secret indictments in connection with the investigation of the Cosmopolitan Trust Company.

The investigating body has been conducting an inquiry into the affairs of the closed trust company for more than a week.

In a circular letter, the contents of which became public today, H. O. Cushman, liquidating agent for the trust company, announced that Bank Commissioner Joseph C. Allen intends selling at auction stock in the Empire Theatre chain, in which the trust company is heavily interested.

CHARGES BY MITCHELL.

Max Mitchell, president of the bank, in a formal statement, alleged that it was in order to obtain this theatre chain "cheap" that the proceeding against the trust company was instituted before the Grand Jury by his enemies. He also alleged that a brother of an assistant attorney-general was interested in the move to obtain control of the theatres.

In his letter Cushman says that "the property to be sold by Bank Commissioner Allen, subject to the order of the court, consists of the outstanding stock in the following corporations:

"Strand Theatre, Inc. of Portland, Me.), Nickel Amusement Company, Casco Theatre Company, Newburyport Theatres, Inc., Newburyport Amusement Company, Amesbury Amusement Company, Waltham Theatres, Inc., the Waltham Central Square Amusement Company, Liberty Amusement Company, New York and Fall River Amusement Company, Empire Amusement Company, Empire Theatre Realty Company, Nickelodeon Amusement Company, formerly the Strand Theatres of Maine, Inc., the Newport Amusement Company and the Bijou Theatre Company of Newport."

MORE THAN MILLION.

The letter adds that in connection with the sale of outstanding stock in these properties the "bank commissioner will cancel or deliver without recourse, all notes of these corporations held by the Cosmopolitan Trust Company, aggregating $1,216,821.81" of principal, subject to the order of the court.

In connection with the Strand Amusement Company, the bank owns 3,563 shares of preferred stock, 4,933 profit sharing and 11,598 common stock.

The liquidating agent says that the bank owns, in the Fall River Consolidated enterprises, in connection with the Empire Theatre Company, $181,800 worth of preferred stock and $78,800 worth of profiting sharing.

The leases held on these theatres run in some instances to 1943 and in others expire this year.

KIDNAPING CHARGED IN DRUG CASE

Narcotics Squad Aid Swears He Was Compelled to Sign Perjured Paper

Serious charges were made against Attorney James A. Hatton, former United States assistant district attorney, in the trial of Anthony (Clutchy) Cacciola for peddling narcotic drugs, heard before Judge Morton and a jury in the Federal District Court today.

Edward J. Doyle, a worker for the Federal narcotic squad, testified he was frightened into signing a false affidavit in Hatton's office, that Hatton was present and participated in the events which led up to Doyle's signing the perjured affidavit, and that Hatton said, "That's fine and dandy," when it was delivered, signed, into his hands.

TELLS OF KIDNAPING.

Doyle testified he purchased morphine from Cacciola on September 15 last. He said he was kidnaped by Cacciola and George B. Wilson about two weeks later and kept all night in Cacciola's house on Blower street, Charlestown.

The next day he was taken to Hatton's office by Cacciola, Wilson and two others, he said, and told to sign a paper which Hatton and Wilson dictated to a stenographer. He testified Wilson told him his life would not be worth a nickel if he refused to sign, and that the men threatened to pull his tongue out if he did not obey. Hatton urged him to sign, he said, and called Narcotic Agent Haffe a big southern dog, with whom he would get even if it cost a thousand dollars.

SENT TO MONTREAL.

The witness testified he was taken back to Cacciola's house for another night and then put on board a train for Montreal by Cacciola's father and Wilson, both of whom threatened him with death if he got off the train before reaching Montreal.

Two days later he was arrested in Montreal for vagrancy and served two months. When he got out of prison he went to Rutland, Vt., where he was found by Inspectors Hoppe and O'Malley of the narcotic squad and brought to Boston.

Doyle stuck to his story under a rigid cross-examination by Attorney Hatton.

Inspectors Haffe and Colver testified that they witnessed Cacciola make a sale of morphine to Doyle.

The affidavit, which Doyle claimed he signed under duress, set forth that Doyle did not sell him morphine, and when he testified to the contrary before a United States commissioner it was under fear that he would be sent to jail by Inspector Haffe.

KILLED BY NEGRO IN GUNFIGHT

50 Patrolmen Battle With Riot Guns in South End; Slayer Held

Patrolman Daniel J. McShane, of the Lagrange Street Station, died today as the result of wounds sustained during a gun fight in the South End, by Renzi Murray, a sixty-two-year-old negro, and a force of fifty police armed with riot guns.

Two other persons, one of them a woman, were wounded by the flying bullets, and a baby, five months old, was badly burned about the body. All the injured were taken to the Relief Hospital.

In talking over the fight with the police later, Murray told them that he had planned to save the last bullet in his gun for himself.

"I told my wife I was going to the attic with my last shot and kill myself," he said, "but she pleaded with

BATTLE OVER GIRL ENDS IN DEATH

Charge Against Somerville Assailant to Be Changed to Murder

Thomas F. Kieley, who was attacked with a hatchet and a milk bottle by John Pullen, a rival for the affections of Miss Annie Croskery of No. 10 Rush street, Somerville, on January 6, died today at the Somerville Hospital.

Miss Croskery and Kieley were to have been married January 15. When her sweetheart was taken to the hospital, the girl obtained a marriage license and planned to wed him there. His condition improved, however, and the plans were changed for a marriage after Kieley had left the hospital.

He took a sudden turn for the worse yesterday and died today.

Pullen is in the East Cambridge jail, in default of $10,000 bail on a charge of assault with a dangerous weapon with intent to kill. When his case is called on Thursday it is expected the charge will be changed to murder.

Pullen, a friend of the Croskery family in Ireland, boarded at the girl's home in Somerville. He was infatuated with Miss Croskery, but she was already engaged to Kieley on Jan. 6 when the latter, who lived on Mt. Pleasant street, Somerville, called to take Miss Croskery walking. Pullen took a hatchet which he had brought from his place of employment in Everett and had hidden in a closet of the Croskery home and struck Kieley over the head while his back was turned.

Miss Croskery, after a ten-minute battle, took the hatchet away from Pullen. He then seized a milk bottle and struck Kieley over the head as he lay on the floor.

Pullen ran out of the house and gave himself up to a policeman.

me not to do that. 'We've been together for twenty-one years,' she told me, 'and if you have to die, save two bullets, one for you and one for me.'

"When I had two shots left," Murray said, "she and I went to the attic and I tried to kill her, but my hand failed me. That's when I surrendered."

AMAZED AT CHARGE.

Murray was held without bail on a charge of murder when arraigned in Municipal Court charged with the death of Patrolman McShane. Murray sat in the bar enclosure with his head bowed on the rail. Clerk Hudson read the complaint, charging murder. At the word Murray raised his head and said in amazement: "Charged with murder?" It was the first knowledge he had received that McShane had died twelve hours after the shuffling battle.

The police asked for a continuance of one week, during which they will prepare evidence for presentation to the Grand Jury. Murray was taken to the Charles Street Jail.

The prisoner was also charged with assault with a loaded revolver with intent to murder William Jackson. Jackson is in the City Hospital with a bullet in his chest and another in his arm.

On the latter charge Murray was held for a week in $5,000 bail.

McShane was born in Provincetown on April 7, 1885. He joined the Boston police department on October 29, 1915.

SAW MUCH ACTION.

On October 4, 1917, he enlisted in the army, serving until May 26, 1919. He was a private in the supply company of the 326th Infantry, 82nd Division. He took in many engagements in the Toul sector and in the Meuse-Argonne region.

Three months ago, while riding in an auto he sustained a fracture of the skull when the car was wrecked. McShane was on the dangerous list in the City Hospital for some time.

McShane's life had been threatened several times. A month ago he was told that a certain South End hoodlum planned to "get" him. The dead patrolman lived at No. 265 Neponset avenue, Dorchester.

William Jackson, colored, of No. 17 Wheeler street, South End, is at the City Hospital with a bullet in his chest and another in his arm.

John Scott, forty-five years old, of No. 23 Wheeler street, is at the City Hospital with a bullet wound in her hand.

The gun fight by the officers and the negro was one of the most spectacular witnessed in Boston in years, and more than 2,000 persons gathered at the scene, leaving the bullets that flew in all directions.

FIGHT OVER RENT.

The trouble started during an argument between Murray and Mrs. William Jackson at the latter's home. Murray is the landlord, and the discussion arose over a question of arrears in rent.

Murray is alleged to have threatened to shoot Mrs. Jackson.

Mrs. Jackson hastened to find a policeman and when she arrived at the Lagrange street station Patrolmen McShane and Dalton accompanied her to the house.

Murray refused to open the door and told the officers to come to the window. When they approached Murray opened fire, one bullet hitting McShane. As McShane fell Patrolman Dalton whipped out his gun and ducked a fusillade of bullets that were directed at him.

He dragged his wounded comrade from beneath the window and sent in a call for help. Just at that time the first and second watches were being changed at the police station and about fifty officers were on hand. They were rushed to the scene armed with riot guns.

FIRES AT JACKSON.

When they arrived Murray and Patrolman Dalton were exchanging bullets. The officers surrounded the building and started a rain of bullets from riot guns and revolvers. Murray from a first floor window kept up a return fire.

He crawled along the floor and upstairs to the attic, where he had apparently planned to "get" him. The dead patrolman was in the apartment of William Jackson, husband of the woman who had complained to the police. Jackson thought it was his wife and cut the door.

As Murray entered he fired shots at Jackson. One of these hit Jackson in the chest, dropping him to the floor, and the other in the arm.

Murray then moved over to the window in the Jackson apartment and fired several shots at the police below. Then he moved over to the window in which lay five-months-old Cecelie Jackson, and was set afire in a manner.

Murray then left the room and went to the attic.

While the gun fight was going Patrolmen Leo J. Devereaux and Thomas McDonald broke a way and entered the cellar. From there they worked up to the attic. A negro jumped for them, gun in hand, but Devereaux wrested the gun from him and marched him to the street.

When the police reached Jackson apartment they found John bleeding on the floor and the seven-months-old baby on the barricade. The child was snatched from its clothes and rushed to the hospital.

The house after the battle was left torn and riddled. Windows were smashed, doors broken and shattered, doors splintered and the sides of the house perforated. Inside on the bedposts were splintered bullets.

Curtis Backs Bill to Arrest Gangsters in Lunchrooms

A bill making it possible for police officials to deal with gangsters who congregate in near-beer saloons, lunchrooms, etc., was taken under consideration today by the legislative Committee on Judiciary. The bill is favored by Police Commissioner Edwin U. Curtis of Boston, who believes the police will be in a better position to deal with criminals if it passes.

Under its provisions police men may walk into a saloon or lunchroom or other resort and arrest a person on the charge of habitually misspending his time if it can be proved that he is a habitual frequenter of such a place.

QUINCY HOUSE RAID CHARGE DROPPED

Government Fails to Prosecute McCarthy After Famous Cox Banquet; Kern Is Held

The government today dropped its prosecution of John J. McCarthy, proprietor of the Quincy House, on the charge of keeping and exposing liquor on the night of December 21, when a Republican banquet given in honor of Governor Channing H. Cox was raided by Harold D. Wilson and his force of prohibition agents.

Harold G. Kern, who claimed legal ownership of the liquor seized in the raid, waived examination by Commissioner William Nelson, and was held in $500 bail for the Federal Grand Jury.

The cases came up before Commissioner Nelson today in a court room crowded to the capacity. Neither McCarthy nor his counsel, John F. Feeley, were present. They had been notified that the government did not intend to prosecute the charge against McCarthy.

Daniel A. Shea, counsel for Kern, asked the dismissal of the case against his client on the ground that the warrant of arrest in his case was faulty. Commissioner Nelson ruled that the warrant was legal and valid.

WILSON IN COURT.

Shea then waived examination for his client and Kern was held for the Grand Jury. Commissioner Nelson permitted Kern to depart on his own recognizance after fixing his bail at $500.

Harold D. Wilson was present at the hearing with a bottle of White Horse Cellar Scotch whiskey and a bottle of brown cocktails, seized in the raid. These two bottles, which Wilson keeps in a safe deposit vault in a downtown bank, are all that are left of twenty-one bottles seized in the raid.

The bottles have disappeared mysteriously. Wilson failed to testify.

Following the hearing Former Chief of Prohibition Enforcement Harold D. Wilson gave out the following statement:

BLOW TO LAW AND ORDER.

"If those responsible for staging the disgraceful liquor party in the private dining room of the Quincy House, December 20, are able to set aside the search warrant used in the raid, through the employment of high class attorneys and the use of far-fetched legal technicalities, as a great blow to law and order in this Commonwealth than if a thousand of the minor culprits who are unable financially to employ such an array of legal talent were to escape after staging a similar fracas.

"The fact remains that liquor was being dispensed freely and that a very substantial quantity was seized. The search warrant I used was issued in good faith and was served absolutely according to law, notwithstanding the newspaper reports crediting Judge Harris with accusing me of staging two raids, and seeming to infer that no raid should have been staged.

"The liquor was there. No one can gainsay it. Many of the red-tagged gentlemen participating in the Governor's banquet were also there. No one can gainsay that. Mr. Charles H. Innes, the leading Republican boss was there, as custodian at the outside door. That he proved a careless guardian is apparently not his fault—possibly the term normally is not truly descriptive of his vision of that particular time.

"No one can gainsay that Mr. Robert J. Bottomley of Mr. Innes' staff and prominently identified with the Good Government Association was there, and apparently unusually fluent of speech.

1921 VINTAGE.

"Mr. Ernest J. Goulston (host of the evening) and the man who is said to be one of the understudies, Mr. Harold G. Kern (who was arrested with a permit issued by the State Director, Mr. Elmer C. Potter, for the transportation of certain liquors alleged to have been acquired prior to the passage of the Prohibition Act), was also much in evidence.

"It is very interesting to note that Mr. Kern is a very young man. So young indeed that he was a minor when he claimed to have required legal possession of the liquor served at the Quincy House soiree. It is also interesting to know that the famous 'White Horse Whisky' seized at this raid was of 1921 vintage, not 1918.

"Where did this liquor come from? Some have said it came from the home of Charlie Innes—others say Lynn—yet others Canada via a bootlegger. It will be an interesting chapter when these facts are finally disclosed.

"The names of other prominent participants might be mentioned, but why waste more ammunition at this time?"

SURE THING BETTOR.

The man who alleged the disgraceful Quincy House debauchery did not even take a man's chance. They no doubt violated the law of probable law of averages while laughing some spirit movement for the reformation of man kind.

(Signed) "HAROLD D. WILSON."

GENERAL STRIKE IS EXPECTED IN RHODE ISLAND

All Textile Workers May Go Out in Fight Against Cut in Wages

By Associated Press.

Providence, R. I., Jan. 31.—A general strike in all textile plants in the State where wage reductions have been made, is indicated in the order of Thomas F. McMahon, president of the United Textile Workers, that all local unions prepare for a meeting of the Rhode Island Textile Council on Sunday to complete plans for the fight that is inevitable in Rhode Island."

It is reported that this action was decided upon at a meeting of the U. T. W. in New York.

The Nottingham Mill in this city, belonging to S. B. & R. Knight, Inc., closed today when about thirty weavers quit work shortly after opening time. The shutdown threw about 170 hands out of work.

After an attempt had been made to open the Phoenix mill of the Hope Company a number of the operatives left and the plant was closed for the remainder of the week. Workers at the Crompton velvet and corduroy mills at Crompton closed that plant, throwing 1,000 out of operatives.

This ties up every textile plant in the Pawtuxet Valley where notice of a reduction of wages has been posted excepting one mill at Arkwright.

At the Hope Spinning Mills, Warren, the help refused to work the extra hour daily from 5 to 6 o'clock. They returned to work today, but said they would not work after 5 o'clock.

Berkeley, R. I., Jan. 31—Employees of the Berkeley mills walked out today because of wage reductions. The mill is part of the Goddard group and employs 450. This concern was among the first in the State to announce a cut in wages.

observer in charge of the seismograph at the American Museum of Natural History, expressed the belief that the quake had occurred somewhere in the region of the Panama Canal.

Authorities at Fordham University inclined to the belief that the shock might have taken place in southern Colombia or northern Ecuador. Some thought the quake might have occurred at sea.

At the museum, it was said the shock was the most severe recorded since its seismograph was installed in 1912.

The main shock was recorded at Fordham at 8:38 a. m. and lasted for six minutes. Gtneie shocks preceded the high tension of the six minutes which were estimated to be the climax. At 10 o'clock, when the record from the seismograph was removed some vibrations were being recorded.

The All-American cables reported no interruptions on its cables extending from New York to Cuba, through Colon, Panama, down the South American to Valparaiso and Santiago, Chili, across the Andes to Buenos Aires and up the east coast of South America to Rio de Janeiro.

Springfield Youths and Girls in Brief Attire Perform for Movies

Springfield, Jan. 31.—Springfield Y. M. C. A. College today suspended for two days Arthur Shaffer, star halfback, and Earl Carlson, members of the Senior class.

The suspension, college authorities say, was enforced as punishment because the young men bathed in bathing suits posed along with some 15 beautiful Springfield maidens, likewise attired, for a film company.

The posing took place at Watershops Pond last Sunday afternoon. At that time the authorities say the seniors played in the icy waters of the pond, along with four of the girls. They then played around on the ice, while other girls dressed in Grecian garb danced about them.

A large hole had been cut in the ice and all was set for the little episode when the group appeared. Without a thought of the chilly waters, four of the girls in their bathing suits posed and the two [illegible] plunged in. The rest of the six [illegible] that the group performed, according to the authorities, was to ride about on little bandwheels.

When the news came to the college authorities, there were frowns and conferences.

The ten young women in the photoplay party are said to be students at the Lane Dancing Academy here. They are from eighteen to twenty years old.

Louise Fitzgerald, Lorretta LaHamme, Grace Talbot and Margaret Connolly are said to be the bathing girls. The dancers were Mildred Hess, Marion Whitney, Thelma Chambers, Eva Drewes, Evelyn Lenine and Alice Sullivan.

Razor Lying Near Body of Ernest C. Woods; Had Been Despondent

Woods was about fifty years old. He was employed by a North Market street poultry house as a traveling salesman. His wife said today that she had been in failing health for some time and was despondent.

JUDGES SCORED BY GOODWIN IN AUTO CASES

Charges "Influence" in Lower Court; Opposes Dodge Bill

Charging that lower court judges have been influenced by friends or law partners in the disposition of cases involving violation of automobile laws, Frank A. Goodwin, state registrar of motor vehicles, made a vigorous attack on bills filed by Lawrence P. Dodge of Northampton, motor vehicle license commissioner last year, Mr. Goodwin's attack was before the legislative committee on highways and motor vehicles.

Dodge's bill would enable to permit judges to determine whether or not an automobile license should be taken away and that is practically what this bill would do," said Mr. Goodwin.

Dodge's bill would take away despite the fact that he was found not guilty by lawful or overwhelming, he sought to amend the law so that upon acquittal a court the person had not his license back.

Registrar Goodwin then produced records of cases which he claimed showed that the judges had improperly dismissed of the cases.

"There are cases," he said, "where a man was found by a police officer to be driving an automobile while he was under the influence of liquor, and they [illegible] dismissed on some [illegible] reason. An empty quart was found in his pocket.

"At the suggestion of the judge, the charge of driving while intoxicated, which had been convicted, would have compelled the revocation of his license, was withdrawn, and then the man pleaded guilty to the other offense, none of which automatically carried suspension or revocation of the license. Investigation disclosed the fact that the judge was a law partner of the attorney for the defendant.

"However, I revoked the man's license, as I have the right to do, under the law."

HEIRESS TO MILLIONS WILL WED MECHANIC ABOUT HALF HER AGE

TO LIVE IN FACTORY DISTRICT

Chicago, Jan. 31.—Mrs. Marion B. Stephens, daughter of the late Norman B. Ream of Chicago, heiress to a fortune estimated as high as $40,000,000, has announced her engagement to Anastase Andreivitch Vonsiatsky, an employe of the Baldwin Locomotive Works in Philadelphia, according to the Chicago Tribune.

Mrs. Stephens, reports said, announced the wedding would take place in the Russian Church, New York. Vonsiatsky is said to have insisted that he remain among the working men and Mrs. Stephens willingly consented to live in his modest home in the factory section near the works.

It was his stirring stories of the war that first attracted Mrs. Stephens' attention, friends say, while the two were in Paris in 1919, where they first became acquainted. He served as an engineer in Kolchak's army.

Mrs. Stephens' first husband, Redmond D. Stephens, attorney, obtained a divorce in 1918 on the grounds that Mrs. Stephens wanted to travel all the time; wanted to come and go, she said, as she pleased, and wanted to be free.

She is forty-five and her husband-to-be is twenty-three.

Philadelphia, Jan. 31.—Anastase Andreivitch Vonsiatsky-Vonsiatsky today confirmed a report that he is to be married to Mrs. Marion B. Stephens, Chicago heiress. The wedding, he said, is to take place in a Russian Orthodox church in New York next Saturday.

He is employed in the test department of the Eddystone plant of the Baldwin Locomotive Works, fifteen miles from this city, where he mingles with the workmen and proudly says he is an "American workman."

EXPERTS WOULD KILL ALL CURRANT BUSHES

Massachusetts must decide whether it wants to retain its pine trees or its currant and gooseberry bushes. This ultimatum was voiced today by experts who appeared before a Legislative Committee on Agriculture and discussed means of exterminating the white pine blister. They declared the organism that destroys pines lives on gooseberry and currant bushes before reaching the deadly stage. The experts advocated a law to exterminate every gooseberry and currant bush in the State.

The White House comment was the first official expression confirming formally that the Japanese and Chinese had reached a complete accord, although it had been generally indicated that they were virtually in full accord.

OLD WOMEN TO BE MADE YOUNG, THEY ARE TOLD

Secret of Perpetual Youth and Beauty Found, Says Mme. Rubenstein

By International News Service.

New York, Jan. 31.—The "secret of perpetual youth and beauty," sought since the days of Ponce De Leon, has been brought to the women of America.

Mme. Helene Rubinstein is in New York, with the "miracle" working rejuvenator "discovered" a few weeks ago in a laboratory in Vienna by a group of European scientists.

Mme. Rubinstein was engaged for months with the scientists. She studied for six months under Professor Eugene Steinach, originator of monkey gland transplantations and performer of youth-restoring "operations."

The "scientific marvel" brought by Mme. Rubinstein is a serum made from the glands of animals which, she says, experiments have proved, will restore the forces and functions of youth.

For more than two years scientists and physicians in various parts of Europe have been trying to discover the secret of perpetual youth. Their experiments began when Professor Steinach made known his first successful transportation of monkey glands. Finally, a month ago, their efforts were rewarded, and Mme. Rubinstein was chosen to bear the precious compound to America.

FOR THE WOMEN.

"For years I have been determined to obtain for the women of America what they have come to call Steinach and Voronoff de for men. I have seen these operations. The results are marvelous, but they are not for women.

"I have been at least ten men who have undergone them and afterward I could hardly recognize them for the men I had known. One in particular impressed me.

"He is a prominent banker in Paris. When I saw him several years ago he was sixty-eight, bald, stout, and with all the marks of age. A few weeks ago I saw him and he looked young enough to be my son.

"He appeared many pounds lighter, was erect and vigorous, alive to the hardest work, mental and physical. His eyes were bright, his skin ruddy. But the greatest change was in his hair. Formerly, he had none, but now his head is well covered with hair that is not even gray. He is not using a wig—I made sure.

"Now, I want these blessings for women and at last we have found them."

MONKEYS AND GOATS.

The serum, made from extracts of a certain gland, preferably a monkey's, though those of goats are also used, is injected into the arm, near the shoulder, with a hypodermic needle.

Results are noticeable in a week Mme. Rubinstein says.

Treatments continue once monthly until eight or ten have been given. Then the expert, she declares, begins to grow thin and supple. The hair takes on the gloss of youth. The skin assumes a fresh look, becoming soft and elastic. The eyes brighten and there is vigor and snap to every motion where lethargy was before.

The treatments must be repeated every two years, Madame says.

As yet we haven't established how many treatments a person needs and whether one can literally live and be young forever," she said.

Queen Marie of Rumania, Empress of the Balkans, is among Mme. Rubinstein's patients abroad.

"Practically every leading actress in Paris has taken it," she continued, "together with the facial operation for the removal of lines and sagging flesh. Doctors Bourgeret and Voronoff there, like Steinach in Vienna, who is also using it. Royalty the world, are kept so busy they hardly have time to sleep.

"Sarah Bernhardt, that marvel among women, who I know well, is still doing things that I have urged and the drinking of horse's blood."

SUPREME COURT GETS PICKFORD ARGUMENTS

Nevada Attorney-General Flays Movie Queen in Divorce Contest

By Universal Service.

Carson City, Nev., Jan. 31.—After six hours' arguments the question of reopening the divorce of Mary Pickford, now Mrs. Douglas Fairbanks, from Owen Moore, was left in the hands of the Supreme Court of Nevada, which, sitting in banc, heard the case.

Attorney-General Leonard B. Fowler, fighting for the right to intervene in behalf of the State to have the divorce decree granted nearly two years ago, at Minden, Nev., set aside, savagely attacked in his argument, "America's little sweetheart."

The State contended that fraud was imposed upon the district court and that, whether or not Miss Pickford is a resident of Nevada, the district court never had jurisdiction to enter any decree.

The State charged that the parties came to Nevada for the purpose of having the California statutes did not permit an immediate divorce and that by the practice of fraud on the Nevada courts a severance of the marriage tie was obtained. Divorce is not the question at this time, but only the right to question it.

Gavin McNab, presenting the argument in behalf of the respondents, questioned the right of the Attorney-General to interfere after the case had been settled in the district court and charged the Attorney-General with citing no case in precedent where any Attorney-General had ever taken such a course.

Judge McCarran, presenting the closing argument for Miss Pickford, declared the Attorney-General bereaved the name of State of Nevada when he instituted suit before Judge Langan, who granted the Pickford divorce, to set aside that divorce on grounds of fraud and collusion.

McCarran's argument was that the directed to his motion to dismiss on the ground that the order appealed from was a decision final in the case, further that record of appeal was not filed in the office of the clerk of the Supreme Court of Nevada within the time prescribed by the law.

The court has ninety days to decide the case, unless the time is extended by stipulation by counsel.

Pastor Boyer to Lose Status Because of Suicide of Mrs. Boucher

Episcopal Officials Advise Him They Have Asked Bishop to Let Him Resign

The Rev. Francis B. Boyer, former curate at the Church of the Advent, will be deposed from the Episcopal ministry as the result of the unfavorable publicity he has received because of the suicide Friday of Mrs. Bernice Boucher, former movie actress, with whom he had been friendly.

This became known today when friends of Boyer stated they had advised him to ask permission of Bishop Lawrence to resign. Bishop Lawrence is absent from the city and will not return until April. Churchmen say nothing will be done until he returns.

The movement in Episcopal circles to have Boyer deposed is the result of the disclosure following the death of Mrs. Boucher. It was learned that in her death note she called for Boyer, who hastened to her side.

It was then disclosed that Boyer had been a frequent caller at the apartment of Mrs. Boucher, exchanging letters with her almost daily. The 1738 Commonwealth avenue.

Mrs. Boucher for several days before her suicide told other women in the house that she feared Boyer would kill having him.

She begged the women to keep him away from her, and said he had a hold on her that she was unable to break. Boyer was there Friday morning and, according to his admission to the police, he then told Mrs. Boucher that he was Within twenty minutes after he had left the little woman had taken twenty-five tablets of bichloride of mercury and was dying.

Mrs. Boucher, a little over a year ago, was divorced from her second husband, George Boucher, a medical student at the Boston Dental School, can found Boucher at a local medical school. He refused to discuss the affairs of his former wife and would say nothing except to admit that he had formerly been her husband.

Friends of the dead woman told a Boston American reporter that Boucher and his wife met while they were living in a Back Bay boarding house on Commonwealth avenue. They were married after a short courtship, but the marriage was an unhappy one. One of Mrs. Boucher's friends declared that Boucher was unable to provide the luxuries that his young wife craved and that divorce resulted.

It was this same craving for the finer things in the way of clothes, jewels, apartments and luxurious furnishings that was a big factor in the downfall of Mrs. Boucher, one of her former friends declared.

POLICE ASK LAW TO CONVICT 'BOOKIES'

James H. Lavlin, secretary to Police Commissioner Curtis appeared before the legislative Committee on Legislative Matters today and asked for legislation which would give the police the authority to arrest and convict "the gangster and bookie selling pools on street corners and in doorways. The bookies selling pools on the horse races are approaching an open scandal in Boston," he said.

Secretary Devlin asked that the present law be amended so that all pools would be ordered where sale of pools would be illegal. He said under the law today it is unlawful to sell pools in buildings and it is apparently intended to prohibit the sale of pools any place, yet judges of the Municipal Court have interpreted the law that a street or doorway is not included in the law and "bookies" may sell in those place without fear of arrest.

Several arrests have made without convictions and the "gangsters" are plying their trade in the city in open defiance of the police authorities, he said.

The bill is one of the recommendations of Police Commissioner Curtis. There was no opposition.

GIRL CASHIER IN ROXBURY STORE IS ACCUSED

Pleads Not Guilty to Charge of Larceny of $158 From Baking Company

Miss Anna Chambers, twenty-three years old, of Hinckley street, Somerville, was arraigned in Roxbury Court today, charged with the larceny of $158 from the Grocers' Baking Company of Roxbury, which employed her as a cashier.

She pleaded not guilty and her case was continued to February 9. According to the complaint of her employers, Miss Chambers obtained money from the firm by falsifying the firm's return slips.

When the girl left the courthouse six young men who claimed to be friends of hers made a rush on two photographers who sought to take Miss Chambers' photograph. The gang jostled the photographers, ran in front of their cameras and finally knocked down and trampled on one of them.

The disorder attracted the attention of Patrolman Hall, but when he approached the gang ran down a side street.

GIRL CASHIER IN HINTS SURPRISE ROXBURY STORE IN ARBUCKLE IS ACCUSED TRIAL

Pleads Not Guilty to Charge of Larceny of $158 From Baking Company

State Has New Witness to Put on; Case May Go to Jury Thursday

San Francisco, Jan. 31.—The trial of Roscoe C. "Fatty" Arbuckle swung into the fourth week today after a three-day recess.

The State had six or eight witnesses remaining to be called, including a "surprise witness," District Attorney Brady and his assistants have refused to disclose this witness.

Arguments on the issue of declaring Zey Prevon a hostile witness occupied the attention of the court upon convening today. The jury was not present. The particular issue was on a decision of the Appellate Court in the Warren Billings case, in which Billings was convicted of complicity in the San Francisco Preparedness Day bomb outrage.

The State contended this decision gave the prosecution the privilege to relate the circumstances under which Prevon had given earlier testimony. The defense contended the decision gave no such right to the State.

State attorneys were inclined to believe the ruling of yesterday would stand. Wednesday afternoon and final arguments would be concluded late Wednesday, when the case will go to the jury.

PUT U. S. VALUES IN THE TARIFF, SAYS SCHWAB

By Associated Press.

Washington, Jan. 31.—No tariff bill will build a foundation for prosperity unless it provides an American valuation basis to "remedy the ills in our present laws which the fluctuations in foreign exchange have torn in it," Charles M. Schwab of New York, declared in a letter read today before the tariff convention here of the National Association of Manufacturers by J. T. Edgerton, president.

"Today we are confronted with a basic weakness in our tariff policy which is gradually but surely undermining the whole main rial fabric of the nation," Mr. Schwab said. "Fluctuations in foreign exchange are playing havoc with wages, prices and orders. Because our present tariff laws were framed at a time when foreign money were normal, they are today actually conservative as far as protecting labor and industry or yielding revenue are concerned.

"Congress is struggling to enact a tariff bill which will enable us, as a people and a nation, to work for ourselves, our country and the world. But no tariff will be a foundation for prosperity, which does not remedy the hole in our present laws which the fluctuations in foreign exchange have torn in it."

LAURENTI SAID TO BE FAVORED FOR POPE

30 Members of Sacred College Reported Ready to Support Him

Rome, Jan. 31 (By the Associated Press).—Interest in the choice of a successor to Pope Benedict is increasing as the time draws near for assembling of the Sacred Conclave, and many attempts to find an indication of the result are being made.

Cardinal Laurenti, secretary of the Congregation of the Propaganda, although born in Italy, has spent most of his long years in America and is believed in a large measure to be favored by at least thirty members of the Sacred College when he delivers in a speech in favor with the Italian Government.

At one time he was said to be acceptable to those opposed to closer relations with the Quirinal.

Cardinal Ratti, Archbishop of Milan, mentioned previously as favored by the Italian group headed by Cardinal Gasparri, is not heard so often now, and the section headed by Cardinal Merry Del Val, which had been credited with favoring Cardinal Ratti, Archbishop of Milan, is reported ready to compromise before the balloting begins.

Several Cardinals, including Bourne, Archbishop of Westminster, visited the conclave quarters after the solemn requiem mass in the sistine Chapel.

The incident in the Sistine Chapel, when a member of the Pontifical choir became demented, has caused the Vatican officials to cancel all permits to enter the Chapel this morning.

The suggestion made in some Italian papers that the opening may be postponed to permit the attendance of the American cardinals, is not taken seriously by members of the Sacred College.

It was an English-speaking Pontiff (Adrian IV.) who gave Ireland to England in the twelth century; the force we do not favor any but an Italian for the throne of St. Peter," declared a member of the party of Cardinal Logue, Primate of Ireland, who arrived here yesterday.

"The incumbent of this high office must speak the Italian language, be intimately acquainted with the delicate relationship between the Vatican and the Quirinal, and understand the psychology of the Italian government and people.

"The Holy See encompasses all people and all countries, and must not be identified with the policy of any government, for there would be danger that it would be used as an instrument for the furtherance of a purpose not in the interest of the whole world."

Cardinal Logue upon his arrival plunged into the many problems confronting the Church. He conferred with Italian and foreign cardinals, and later went to St. Peter's where he delivered his first prayer.

Despite his 82 years, the Irish primate appeared fresh, buoyant and vigorous.

"LOVE NEST" BROKER IS UNDER ARREST

Pittsburgh, Jan. 32.—A Federal warrant, charging him with defrauding victims of $150,000, has been issued here against Herbert Andrews, 34, Chicago and New York broker of "Love Nest" fame on a complaint by Postoffice Inspector H. B. Williams, who declares Andrews defraud Americans and Europeans who have been swindled in the sale of Andrews' New York apartment, it is alleged. The warrant was issued after Andrews had been arrested in Chicago.

ANDREWS' ARRIVAL

Andrews obtained money from customers with instructions to purchase bonds, and that in some instances no appropriation was made for the bonds, it is alleged. In other cases, it is alleged, he bought bonds and sold them.

The postal officials declare that the evidence against Andrews will be presented in Pittsburgh will be in excess and that the defalcations will amount to $150,000.

RICHARD WESTACOTT TO REST AT ARLINGTON

London, Jan. 31.—Several hundred persons attended a memorial service at All Souls Church, Langham place, today in memory of Richard Westacott, who died here Saturday. Mr. Westacott was a brother of Mrs. Vincent de Lomas since 1897.

The body will be sent to Arlington, Mass., home of the sister of the deceased, where funeral and burial services will be held.

A more attractive investment than real estate is hard to conceive, and a quicker method of consummating real estate sales than through the "Real Estate" columns of The American does not exist. Therefore, buyers and sellers both find the use of these columns advantageous.

U. S. OIL MEN IN PLOT TO HURT OBREGON

Tried to Influence Officials in Washington Not to Recognize Regime

By Universal Service.

Washington, Jan. 31.—American oil interests tried to use carefully cultivated friendships of high officials to block recognition of President Alvaro Obregon of Mexico.

The National Association for the Protection of American Rights in Mexico practiced this ruse. Indications are that Thomas F. Lee was directed to follow such a course. Lee was formerly executive director for the National Association. As such he made frequent trips to Washington. Universal Service has a copy of a report which was made the basis of government records. It states among other things:

"The association also employs a Mr. Thomas F. Lee, who does practically nothing else but make trips from New York to Washington to mingle with high government officials and in this way influence their minds not to recognize the Mexican government."

The report, covering July 15, 16, 20 and 21 of 1921, at a time when the association was negotiating through Lee and others with Pablo Gonzalez, who was promised huge funds to head a revolution in Mexico, adds:

"Mr. Lee is now cultivating the friendship of United States Attorney General Daugherty for the purpose of influencing him. They also employ several others."

This evidence, together with a mass of other documents revealed by Universal Service today, was turned over to Representative Tom Connally of Texas. Representative Connally last Thursday introduced in the House a resolution asking for a congressional investigation of the plots of American agents to foment revolutions in Mexico.

Owing to the blizzard and disaster which has gripped Washington and its official circles, action on the rules committee of the House yesterday was delayed in this matter. Representative Connally, however, was of the opinion that the investigation preliminaries will be begun at an early date.

The report referred to in this article contained the claim of Lee's counsel a man close to executive affairs of the national association and the oil interests, that he and the association "have succeeded in getting the present United States administration to refuse to recognize the Mexican government."

Not only in this report, but in a mass of documents turned over to Representative Connally for the Congressional investigation is the full scheme of propaganda is revealed. It is shown where the national association assigned special writers and authors to spread anti-Obregon doctrine. This particular report names some of the paid propagandists and says of them:

"It is the duty of these men (and there are many others) to publish such articles as will influence the American people against the Mexican government and to stop the publication of any article the Mexican government may try to publish, so that the Mexican government cannot put before the American people their side of affairs."

The same report names a news agency of wide prominence and charges that it "will not handle any of the Mexican articles that has not had the approval of the association of producers of petroleum in Mexico."

(Further revelations dealing with plots of American interests to overthrow the Obregon government, will be presented by Universal Service tomorrow.)

Connally Believes Resolve Will Be Endorsed

By REPRESENTATIVE TOM CONNALLY OF TEXAS.

Washington, Jan. 31.—Request has been made to the Rules Committee of the House, through Representative Campbell of Kansas, the chairman, for an early hearing on the resolution to investigate the Mexican situation. The committee must take action with reference to the investigation before it can be called up in the House.

As soon as I shall be able to secure a hearing before the Rules Committee, I shall outline to the committee the matters which justify the investigation, and I believe, the committee will be impressed sufficiently to recommend the adoption of the resolution by the House.

QUICK RELIEF FROM SORE THROAT

Formamint Tablets afford protection against infection

PEOPLE nowadays recognize that a sore throat is a danger spot, as the inflamed tissues form an ideal soil for germs to multiply.

With gargles it is impossible to keep a sore throat under anything like effective treatment. With Formamint, whether you are at work, or in crowded car, shop, theatre or church, you can dissolve, now and then, one of these pleasant tasting, powerfully antiseptic tablets in your mouth.

An effective antiseptic is released and, carried by the saliva, continuously bathes the tissues, checks germ growth and soothes the throat, possibly preventing laryngitis, tonsilitis, "flu." Relieves hoarseness. Helpful for singers, actors, smokers, speakers, lecturers, etc. Children like them. 60c at all druggists.

MOTION PICTURE NEWS AND NOTES

By FRIEDA DAVIS

"SHAME," a Fox production.

In the feature picture at the Park Theatre this week, with a Goldwyn picture, "Watch Your Step," holding up the other end of the bill in splendid shape.

In "Shame" there was a good story but it seems to have got lost somewhere about the Fox studio. Considering how much of the story is lost, then, one must congratulate the concern in having made anything at all. It is lurid melodrama without cause for worry; since the plot would have been laid low during the early part of the film by having the hero ask an obvious question of an obvious person.

William Fielding has been living in Shanghai since a quarrel with his father. There his son is born, and there his wife dies of fever, while the child David, is cared for by Lotus Blossom, a beautiful Chinese girl. Fielding has been using his fortune to stamp out the opium traffic in the East. Foo Chang, who is in love with Lotus Blossom, is the moving spirit in the opium smuggling. In revenge for her cold nose he threatens to kill Fielding and David.

He succeeds in killing the father, but the son escapes to San Francisco to Li Chung, friend and associate of William Fielding. There the boy grows up and works to fight the importation of opium into the states. Foo Chang follows and tells David that his mother was Chinese, that he is a half-caste, and declares that he will tell David's wife and friends, unless he is allowed to bring opium into the country.

FLEES TO ALASKA.

David immediately believes Foo Chang and nearly goes insane at the thought of his shame, being a half caste. The obvious remedy would be to ask Li Chung, who knew his father before David was born. Instead of that he gives up his position in San Francisco and nearly drives his wife to despair. When his son is born he takes the child and runs away to Alaska, where he intends to stay until death releases him. It is here that his wife and Li Chung find him and, accidentally, David learns the truth of his birth.

In spite of the weakness and lack of reason in the story, "Shame" provides plenty of thrills. There are exciting fights scattered throughout while in the Alaskan scene David fights a wolf barehanded, eventually choking him to death. How this was done is a mystery, for it is a real fight with, to all appearances, a real wolf.

John Gilbert does an uncommon ly good piece of work as William and as David Fielding. He almost puts reason into much of the action and the insanity he is called upon to portray. He is the biggest characterization he has yet been given and he has acquitted himself creditably.

William V. Mong, who has already given us some splendid portrayals on the screen, does exceedingly well as Li Chung, the faithful Chinese friend. Others in the cast who deserve mention are Anna May Wong as Lotus Blossom, Doris Pawn as the wife, Rosemary Theby as the Weaver of Dreams, George Seigmann as Foo Chang, and Billie Mickey Moore as David when he was a child. Not so much can be said for the work of Frankie Lee, who plays the role of David when he is about eight. Frankie shows clearly that he is too conscious of the camera.

"WATCH YOUR STEP."

THE companion picture at the Park is starring Cullen Landis, showing that Mr. Goldwyn is abandoning his practice of having no stars. "Watch Your Step" is an entertaining comedy that borders on the farce at times.

Landis is seen as the owner of a racing car who simply cannot keep under the speed limit. After a jail term to correct his fault, he promises his father to reform. He is earnest in trying to do this, keeping well under fifteen miles an hour, when his car is commandeered by a doctor who is in a hurry. Landis returns to his old ways in order to save the doctor's patient for him—he's a bad hat, it seems, fifteen years—and incidentally gains some motorcycle followers. After a long chase that involves a change of costume, a change of life, and a change of heart—he meets Patsy Ruth Miller during the action—things come to a close with an explanation by the doctor.

Landis gives a good performance as the speeding son, though he is better known on the screen for less comic roles. Patsy Ruth Miller does well with a small part, though all the honors go to the leading player, for no one approach him throughout the entire five reels.

MARGOT ASQUITH HERE, DEFENDS 'MEMOIRS'

As to British Women in Politics, She Says They Are Making Slow Progress

By WINIFRED VAN DUZER.

New York, Jan. 31.—Margot Asquith, famous wife of former Premier of England Herbert Henry Asquith, reached this city when the much delayed Carmania finally docked into harbor.

A half hour later she was at the Ambassador Hotel. Before drifting in to any real enthusiasm concerning various subjects that interest her, the astonishing Englishwomen, who will tour the country to give readings from a new book, not yet published, made it clear that she has no regard for her "Memoirs" which stirred consternation in England from the very throne (built downward).

LITTLE AND SO THIN.

She offered her opinium of English women's political status this way:

"I don't think they will make a great name in politics. Still, you can't judge yet; there is only one woman in politics—Lady Astor. They are not organized well; they are not good speakers; they are not making any headway."

When it was pointed out that besides Lady Astor there now is a Mrs. Whitringham in England's lower house as well as the Viscountess Wimbor, recently elected, Mrs. Asquith acknowledged Mrs. Whitringham. The Viscountess, however, she waved aside with a flick of her English brand cigarette.

She said:

"Of course the book occasioned a lot of adverse criticism. But there were others who commended it. And their praise counted for so much more than the other that I didn't mind at all. In fact, I've forgotten just what was said adversely."

A little woman of such thinness as to seem quite emaciated; quick, darting movements; firm, too large teeth; dark eyes which seem gauged to pierce surfaces as if they did not exist.

This is the "woman of the serpent's tongue" of Sir William Watson's sonnet for poem, heroine of Benson's celebrated novel, "Dodo," and former mistress of No. 10 Downing street.

LAUDS LABOR LEADER.

"I never heard of her," she said and blew a disdainful column of smoke aloft.

"There is one woman I should like to see in politics, however. It is Margaret Bondfield, secretary of the trade union, and a very fine speaker. She would stand for something for the labor movement in which I am tremendously interested."

She was asked which of our American celebrities she will visit during her sojourn here. She said:

"I should like best to see Senator Hughes and Secretary Root."

"And wouldn't you care to see Mr. Wilson?"

"I know Mr. Wilson. He is a marvellous speaker. Certainly I shall call to see him."

BUCKET SHOPS ARE MENACED BY 'RUN'

Fake Concerns Face Wall as Dupes Demand Stocks They Have Bought

(This is the second article in a series exposing the brazen tactics of the bucket shop ring and other financial swindlers who have defrauded investors, throughout the United States, of more than $6,000,000,000 during the past four years, as divulged exclusively by Universal Service.)

By CLAUDE R. COLLINS,
Universal Service Staff Correspondent.

New York, Jan. 31.—Thousands of clients have started a "run" on the score of fictitious brokerage houses in the great bucket shop ring operating in New York, Philadelphia and Boston, which Wall Street financial experts declare will force all of these fake concerns to the wall in the immediate future in the face of the present rising securities market.

The "run" was started by the failure of a dozen of these bucket shops during the past few weeks. As divulged exclusively by Universal service yesterday, the bucket shop ring and other financial swindlers have defrauded American investors of more than $6,000,000,000 during the past four years.

SHORT OF CASH.

Steadily rising stock and bond prices and demands of clients for securities they have paid for are pressing members of these fake brokerage concerns on the rocks of financial ruin as they find it impossible to find the ready cash with which to purchase the stocks they are supposed to have been carrying for their customers.

Long lines of uneasy clients file in and out of these houses paying unpaid balances on securities they have ordered on a margain in order that they may obtain the stock certificates and thus be assured their money has not been lost. The bucket shop operators, not possessing these securities, are being forced to enter the open market to purchase the shares, if unable to do this, there is but one alternative—they must close their doors.

Almost every day one of these houses crashes its head against the stone wall of failure. Most of these failures have been houses not members of the stock exchange. In every instance they have been unable to produce the money necessary to purchase securities demanded by their customers.

If the thousands of clients of the bucket shop ring knew what happens to their money after it passes through the cashier's window they readily would agree with the swindling operators that "there is one born every minute."

The first slice of their money goes to the "pullers in" for the shop. Every bucket shop has a big staff of "pullers." These men go out and round up the customers. They get 10 to 25 per cent. of the amount each client "invests."

In disclosing the startling inner secrets of these swindling brokers today, a prominent Wall Street financial authority said:

"THEY KNOW THEY LIE."

"Inasmuch as the swindlers spend money for clerical departments and for seductive literature, written to deceive prospective speculators into doing business with them, and as they have to pay a commission to a member of the Stock Exchange who buys securities for them, these costs far overrun the legitimate commission charges by reliable brokers. Therefore it is impossible for these concerns to operate on a legitimate basis, and there should be no doubt in the minds of the investing public as to where they get the necessary funds with which to maintain their establishments.

"Some of these houses maintain they profitably can conduct a legitimate commission business by purchasing and selling these stocks. This is impossible. Operators who have made such statements falsify and know it.

"A broker of my acquaintance who operated a bucketshop for years and made so much money that he now finds it profitable to operate a legitimate business told me that it costs bucketeers so much to borrow money that they could not possibly conduct their business honestly without eating up their original capital in short order.

"This man tells me few unlisted stocks are accepted by banks and trust companies as collateral for loans. In order to obtain money the bucketeers are forced in many instances to go to Wall street shylocks, who charge from 2 to 3 per cent. a month for loans secured by unlisted stocks. Thus the bucketeer is forced to pay from 24 to 36 per cent. per year for loans.

IGNORED AS COLLATERAL.

"Some stocks sold by bucketshops are ignored as collateral even by these loan sharks as they well know the shares are worthless and printed only to defraud investors, even though quoted.

"The 'pullers' employed by the bucket shops are the most dangerous men in the swindling ring. They make friends with the concerns' clients, edge into the confidences of these people and manage to work every surplus dollar out of them. In many cases victims are induced to mortgage their homes and to withdraw the last dollars of their life savings from the bank to turn into the coffers of the bucket shops.

"These barkers for the stock market 'circus,' as the bucketshop ring is known to the professional traders in Wall Street, will stoop to any methods to lure victims into the printed mires of easy money.

"Their chief argument in landing an account is the fact that they will handle the client's business on a very slight margin. This is the most important step in their swindling operations. They know that if a customer holds a stock on a three or four point margin and the stock quotation on the exchange drops as many points in several days, the broker can, nine times out of ten, induce the client to sell out. That ends the transaction and the bucketshop has shoveled another tidy profit into its coffers."

(The third article in this series will be printed tomorrow).

Just how did he say it—when he proposed? The Boston Daily Advertiser will pay cash for every proposal printed. Read "My Final Proposal" daily in New England's Great Pictorial Newspaper.—Advt.

SCIENCE FUNDS RETURNED BY OLD TRUSTEES

Eustice and Harvey Are Declared Discharged From Further Liability by Court

The accounts of Herbert W. Eustice and Paul Harvey, old trustees of the Christian Science Publishing Company, were allowed by a decree of Judge Crosby in the Supreme Court, and the two are declared discharged from further liability.

The decree followed the turning over to the present trustees, Fred M. Lamson, William P. McKenzie and James E. Patten, by Eustace and Harvey of the sums found by Judge Crosby to have been improperly expended.

These items include about $25,000 paid as gratuities to employes of the company and $500 a month paid to Benjamin B. Ogden after his service had ceased.

Science Church Hears Lecture on Prayer

In a lecture at The First Church of Christ, Scientist, a member of its board of lectureship, William D. Kilpatrick of Detroit, spoke on God's law operating through prayer. He said in part:

"Now the question of how to bring into action this ever-present law of God, how to apply it to our present needs, how to heal the sick, comfort the sorrowing, and save the sinner, as Jesus did, naturally presents itself. This, my friends, is accomplished in Christian Science solely through the prayer of understanding.

"Christian Scientists have learned that whatever is to be achieved in the way of healing and saving must be done through such prayer, and that this prayer must be without ceasing. Our every thought, inclination, and deed must be the outcome of a constant mental attitude of prayer if we would follow the Master in the way of His appointing.

"A Christian Scientist soon learns that in bringing to the world these blessings of God's law which Jesus so clearly exemplified we do not have to compel the operation of God's law, we simply have to let it do its work, or rather, let the work that law has already accomplished for man be manifested to us.

"The purpose of true prayer is one of elimination rather than one of compulsion or persuasion—the elimination, through spiritualization of consciousness, of that which St. Paul characterized as the carnal mind, the mortal mind, thus allowing that mind to be manifested in us 'which was also in Christ Jesus.'"

Edison's Questions Bring Romance to Inventor's Family

By Associated Press.

New York, Jan. 31.—When Thomas A. Edison formulated his famous questionnaire he had no idea the only man who would answer it correctly would win his way into the Edison family. But such is the case. Samuel A. Halsey of Newark, N. J., will tonight marry Miss Charlotte W. Hawkins, sister-in-law of Charles E. Hison, son of the inventor.

Halsey was one of the first to get the questionnaire. Instead of ridiculing it, he answered it and was given an AA grading by the inventor himself. He was given a job juggling figures in the Edison factories, but he didn't stay at that long. He became chief of the personnel staff, and met Miss Hawkins, who was doing welfare work in the plant.

It was here Halsey framed his own questionnaire of but one question. Miss Hawkins also graded him AA.

NEW RIVALS OF PONZI GETTING 'EASY MONEY'

Plan to Salvage Lusitania and Recover Safe Finds Many Credulous

Philadelphia, Jan. 31.—A plan to "salvage the Lusitania," or, more properly, to loot the Lusitania, is the latest get-rich-quick undertaking here. The lure of sunken treasure and the "opportunity to gain fame and fortune" are attracting a host of the "easy ones born every minute." This scheme is of the "invention" type.

Ignoring the unsuccessful efforts of the United States Navy's deep-sea divers and the impracticability of manual labor at varying depths, the promoters are peddling stock right and left in an all-metal diving suit designed for work at dizzy depths. Their aim, of course, is to remove the safe aboard the ill-fated Lusitania containing $1,000,000.

As the capitalization of the company is $2,000,000 investors are begining to wonder where the profits come in if a $1,000,000 is spent to recover a like amount.

As the promoters promise a return on investments by October 1, 1922, divers are expected to tap the liner's treasure chest before that date.

Meanwhile the easy ones are casting their greenbacks into the painted mire of easy money.

OFFER REQUIEM FOR POPE AT CATHEDRAL

Fr. Geoghan Pays Eloquent Tribute to Service of Benedict XV.

A solemn high mass of requiem for Pope Benedict XV. was sung in the Cathedral of the Holy Cross today by Rt. Rev. Mgr. John R. Peterson, assisted by the Very Rev. Lawrence Tighe of Lowell, provincial of the Oblate Fathers, Rev. John J. Ryan of St. Paul's, Cambridge, Rev. William H. Finelgan and Rev. William A. Dacey.

A catafalque surrounded by lighted candles stood immediately within the sanctuary rail. On it top rested a replica of the papal tiara.

Five absolutions were pronounced by Mgr. Peterson, Mgr. Michael J. Splva of Lowell, Mgr. George J. Patterson, of St. Vincent's Church, South Boston, Mgr. Arthur J. Fleming, of Lynn, and Mgr. M. T. McManus, of Brookline. The church was thronged.

The mass was sung by the Priests' Choir, consisting of forty priests in cassocks and surplices, led by Rev. M. J. Scanlan, S. T. L.

Rev. John J. Geoghan, S. J., rector of the Church of the Immaculate Conception and president of the Boston College High School, delivered the eulogy.

TRIBUTE TO PONTIFF.

Father Geoghan first summed up briefly the establishment of the church and the martyrdom of St. Peter, the first Pope. He then said, in part:

"A few days ago, another pontiff, the 259th of his line, lay dying in the city of Rome. But now the anxious messages passes from lip to lip. 'The Holy Father is dead.' And tens of thousands massed before the Vatican palace raise their prayerful lamentation, while the echoes of their grief spread to the confines of the world.

"The world that ignored Peter, the first supreme pontiff, turns its eyes today to the heart of Christendom and pays its tribute of love and gratitude to the memory of Benedict XV. For this month, when Mrs. William H. Coolidge of Beacon street gives the first of the series with a luncheon in honor of her bud daughter, Miss Katherine Coolidge. Miss Coolidge, who was introduced in September at a tea-dance which her parents gave her at "Hyannam Farm," their North Shore estate in Magnolia, had the distinction of being the first debutante of the season to announce her engagement. Her fiance is Geoffrey Story Smith.

Those luncheons, given by the mothers and débutantes for the Junior League, have nothing to do with the weekly luncheons and meetings given every Tuesday by the league.

Of interest to Boston society folk —especially that portion of it which Summers at the North Shore—is the announcement that Mrs. Constances Peabody of New York and Beverly Farms was married last Saturday at Palm Beach to A. Kinnaird Tod, who has an estate at Beverly on the North Shore.

Shortly before the wedding Mrs. Peabody received the final decree of divorce from Lincoln R. Peabody of New York. Mr. and Mrs. Tod will remain at Palm Beach this season. Miss Constance Peabody, Mrs. Tod's daughter, who has been with her mother at Palm Beach for several weeks, has started by motor with Mr. Thomas H. Symington to join Mr. Symington and his party on board the Harmony for a week's fishing cruise.

Apropos of Palm Beach, a number of Bostonians took part in the various entertainments which took place at the Florida resort over the week-end. Mrs. John S. Curtis, Mrs. William A. Gaston and Mrs. George Silsbee, all of this city, were among the guests for whom Mrs. Leland Sterry of New York entertained at the Everglades Club. Other guests were Mrs. Pierre Lorillard Barbey and Mrs. Walter Mitchell. Mrs. Charles Choate, also of the Boston colony at Palm Beach, entertained a number of guests at her cottage.

Rodney Thayer of Boston was in the group at the Casino Beach. Others there were Henry L. Sloane, Baron and Baroness de la Grange, Mr. and Mrs. E. Clarence Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Jerome Napoleon Bonaparte and Mr. and Mrs. Edward R. Thomas.

Mrs. Barclay H. Warburton of Philadelphia will arrive at the Everglades on Thursday, where Miss Mary Brown Warburton will join her. The latter has been sojourning with Mrs. Charles A. Munn of Washington and the Massachusetts North Shore at her villa. Mrs. Gurnee Munn, Mrs. Charles Munn's daughter-in-law, is expected to arrive at Palm Beach today.

More than 125 members of the Winter colony attended the Sunday evening dinner-dance held at the Everglades Club.

BETTY ALDEN'S COMMENT ON BOSTON SOCIETY

Smart Set Member Hold Interests in Rummage Sale

By BETTY ALDEN.

TODAY marks the second and last day of the large rummage sale [illegible] No. 483 Boylston street by a group of prominent society matrons. All manner of practical articles may be purchased at this sale, which is in aid of the House of Mercy.

Though these women of the smart set have served as saleslades not a few times during this season at the various charity sales and bazars, they seem to lose none of their zeal and enthusiasm for their "jobs" as the season progresses. Yesterday found them just as efficient and courteous as ever at their post behind the counter, when the sale opened, and today will find them no less willing and cheerful at their work.

The committee in charge of the affair includes Mesdames Edward Beals, Malcolm Storer, Samuel Hammond, Timothee Adamowski, Francis H. Appleton, Jr., Gerald A. Bramwell, Edward D. Brandegee, George W. W. Brewster, Robert Codman, Eben S. Draper, Marshall Fabyan, Richard Lawrence, Lawrence W. Morgan and Rudolph Weld.

The sale opens at 10 on the morning and closes at 5 in the afternoon.

The second of the Junior League luncheons will be given tomorrow by Mrs. Hugh Bancroft for her debutante daughter, Miss Mary Bancroft, at her home on Beacon street, an event which the debbies have been anticipating with no little eagerness.

These luncheons, which are an evolution of the Sewing Circle's similar events, began on the 22d of this month, when Mrs. William H. Coolidge of Beacon street gave the first of the series with a luncheon in honor of her bud daughter, Miss Katherine Coolidge. Miss Coolidge, who was introduced in September at a tea-dance which her parents gave her at "Hyannam Farm," their North Shore estate in Magnolia, had the distinction of being the first debutante of the season to announce her engagement. THEATRE CRASH DEATH LIST MAY BE REDUCED

Senate Expected to Act on Proposal to Probe Horror

By Associated Press.

Washington, Jan. 31.—While the city began the burial of its dead today, District of Columbia authorities pushed their investigation of the Knickerbocker Theatre disaster and the Senate was expected to take action on the resolution of Senator Capper of Kansas, proposing an independent inquiry by that body.

A resolution for the same purpose also was pending in the House.

A re-check of the death list by the police today showed that the final total, outside of the expected deaths of injured, of which there are now three, probably would be reduced to sixty-five. Of the total of 133 injured, sixty-two remained in hospitals today, with a dozen reported in critical condition.

E. H. Shaughnessy, Second Assistant Postmaster-General, although in official among these, was said to be still showing improvement today.

In addition to an exhaustive investigation of the disaster being pressed by the District of Columbia Commissioners, the Federal Grand Jury, which visited the scene of the catastrophe yesterday as the first step in its investigation, was ready today to call the first witnesses in its efforts to fix the blame.

The Coroner's Jury, also investigating, had requested the War Department today to assign army engineers to make a study of the structure.

Preparations to raise the walls of the theatre were under way today, the search of the ruins for victims having been completed yesterday.

Reductions in the death list which the police early today believed would be final resulted from the tentative elimination of eight names for which the police have been unable to find any addresses.

There are, moreover, no unidentified bodies which might account for these, and a careful check of hospitals and undertaking establishments had failed to establish any victims of these names.

Those are: P. N. Walsh, Miss M. E. Walsh, Mr. and Mrs. Russel Maine, Albert Ireton, Pauline Lamby, W. M. Crawford and F. H. Hall. In addition to these, Miss Gertrude Taylor of Washington was found to have been reported dead by error, and Ernesto Natiello, who was killed, was found to have been listed again as Ernest Martello. These ten eliminations would reduce the total to 98.

MRS. HAGUE, NEWPORT, IS FATALLY BURNED

Newport, R. I., Jan. 31.—News has been received here of the death in Washington of Mrs. Arnold Hague, one of the oldest Summer residents of Newport. She was burned to death when her clothing caught fire from a gas stove.

Mrs. Hague was formerly Miss Mary Bruce Robbins and she first married Walter Howe, a prominent lawyer in New York, who met a tragic death in the surf at Bateman's Beach. There were two children, Ernest Howe and Walter B. Howe.

HUB'S WOMAN DRY AGENT TO ENFORCE LAW

Hannah Brigham Does Not Intend to Be Fooled by Mere "Moonshiners"

"I intend to do my utmost to enforce prohibition."

This statement was made by Mrs. Hannah M. Brigham, Boston and New England's only woman prohibition agent, and one of a very few in the entire country. And when this blue-eyed, fair-haired, middle-aged woman, mother of a boy and girl, gave utterance to this terse sentence, a Boston American reporter interviewing her felt she meant every word of it.

Seen in the general office of Prohibition Director Elmer C. Potter on Chauncy street, Mrs. Brigham, pencil in hand, consented to give a brief sketch of her life and her new work, while a battery of typewriters clattered merrily in the busy office.

Mrs. Brigham's chief work, it is stated, is investigation of the holders of official prohibition permits. And woe be to anyone who tries to "put anything over" on her.

She was recently appointed from Washington by Internal Revenue Commissioner David H. Blair at the suggestion of Director Potter of the local force.

One of her first official acts was taking part in the recent raid at Keefe's Hotel, where she assisted in checking up on the quantity of liquors seized.

Referring to her appointment Director Potter said:

"I appointed her, partly because she is a woman of special talent for the investigating work which she has undertaken, and partly in recognition of the part women have played in bringing about prohibition and are now playing in maintaining the dry laws. I believe the presence of a woman on the enforcement staff will have a most salutary effect in bringing about strict observance of the law and contributing to more faithful work in enforcement."

Mrs. Brigham, who lives at No. 102 Trowbridge street, Cambridge, is a modest appearing, unassuming woman, and it was with reluctance she consented to be interviewed. She has two children, Alfred, thirteen years old, and Nathalie, seven years old. Her husband, Walter S. Brigham, is a Boston banker.

"How do I manage to do all this work and with a growing family? Well, I'm managing to do it all right. I did it during the war. I'm simply going to do my best for prohibition, my party and the State organization," Mrs. Brigham said. "I thoroughly believe in prohibition. It is the best thing for this country, or any other country. In time everyone will come to view it that way. Those knocking it most now will eventually see its permanent good. And things are hard when you first start, especially anything that savors of reform."

OSBORNE FACES LOVE THEFT CHARGE

Wife of Enlisted Man Says Reformer Caused Husband to Leave Her

Concord, N. H., Jan. 31.—Thomas Mott Osborne, former lieutenant-commander in charge of the Portsmouth naval prison and one time warden of Sing Sing prison, appeared in the United States District Court today as defendant in an allegation of affection suit brought by Mrs. Duffy Mullane Duffy, who wants $25,000 for the loss of her husband's love.

The plaintiff alleges that Osborne, while commandant of the naval prison, induced William J. Duffy, a chief yeoman, to seek an annulment of their marriage, on the ground that Duffy was drunk when he said "I do."

She declares in the papers filed in the case that Osborne went to their home in Kittery, Me., and persuaded Duffy that he had made a mistake in marrying.

She adds that the prisoner reformer induced the yeoman to leave home and newly-made bride and return to the yard.

MARRIED AGAIN.

It is also alleged that Osborne induced the yeoman to obtain the cancellation of the marriage tie that bound the enlisted man to Mrs. Duffy, and that Duffy, shortly after this proceeding had ended, went to Brooklyn, N. Y., where he married Miss Helen M. Healey, formerly of Manchester, N. H., and a chum of the first wife.

Duffy at the time he filed his application with the State Supreme Court for the annulment of his marriage to Miss Mullane swore that he had been decoyed into the wedding and duped by his bride and her girl friends.

Mrs. Duffy opposed this motion and entered suit for divorce and divorce only. The case finally reached the Supreme Court of Cumberland County, Me., which rendered a decision against the yeoman, leaving him with two wives on his hands.

DUFFY AND NO. 2 ACCUSED.

Later Duffy and wife No. 2 were arrested and indicted by the Grand Jury of Rockingham County, N. H. The charge was continued from time to time, pending the action of the Maine courts on the annulment proceedings. Duffy and Mrs. Duffy No. 2 were released on $1,000 bonds each, which were furnished by Osborne.

It is understood when the trial began today that Osborne intends resting his defence on the claim that he acted in the full free best interests of all parties concerned, after learning of the circumstances under which Duffy and Miss Mullane were married.

John L. Mitchell, chief counsel for Mrs. Duffy, told the jury he would show that Osborne investigated the marriage of Duffy to Miss Mullane on his own initiative and then took steps to have the tie annulled.

The principals in the case, Osborne, Mrs. Duffy, Duffy and his second wife, who was Miss Helen Healey of Manchester, paid little attention to the gaze of the spectators today.

Miss Healey claimed that Duffy had promised to marry her before he married Miss Mullane.

THREE APPOINTMENTS ARE MADE BY PETERS

The following appointments have been made by Mayor Peters to the Boston almshouse and hospital: Bertha A. Ball, pupil nurse, at $360 a year, and Mary T. Enright, attendant, $600 a year. William H. Bell is to be clerk of works for the Cambridge Court Building, and also clerk for the outpatients department alterations at 345 a week. Bell has been employed by the hospital trustees up to the present at $30 a week.

FORMER CROWN PRINCE SAYS HE OPPOSES COUP

Insists Own Preference of Monarchy to Republic "Cuts No Ice"

By International News Service.
Copyright 1922 by International News Service.

Berlin, Jan. 31.—Friedrich Wilhelm Hohenzollern, German ex-Crown Prince, recognized the Republican regime in Germany as the legally constituted form of government of the country and once was destined to rule as emperor and king.

He still believes the monarchial system does more for a people. But since a majority of the German people at Weimar chose a republic he accepts that as an iron fact in the face of which he admits his own private opinion "cuts no ice."

He opposed a coup by any faction, saying that his countrymen have suffered enough.

In the "confession of faith," of the former Kaiser's eldest son, written in his own hand upon Wieringen Island, he laments he is forbidden to help in the work of reconstruction, "even as a private citizen."

He confesses "these long, lonesome years have taught me patience, taught me to regard everything from a more objective standpoint."

The letter contained the most friendly and liberal expressions of sympathy toward labor ever uttered by any member of the Hohenzollern dynasty. In the Nationalist organ Der Tag, an introductory note will explain that Professor Georg Quidde published the letter because it was apt to rectify "the false picture of the former heir to the German throne, which is existing in many minds."

The letter said in part:

"I can only say that I too believe the question of 'Republic or Monarchy' today plays no part whatever at this time of the Fatherland's gravest need.

"As you know, I have always represented the viewpoint that the monarch exists for the sake of the people, not the people for the sake of the monarch. After the terrible debacle of 1918, consequences of which are making themselves felt more and more heavily, the National Assembly elected by the German people adopted by a majority of the leaders the Republican form of government. In spite of whatever faults one may find with the Weimar constitution, this is a fact. My personal view that, for various reasons peculiar to Germany, the interests of the people cuts no ice.

"Any form of government can be a blessing to the people only it based upon the national conviction, approved thereby and is firmly anchored by a majority of the people governed. In my opinion, therefore, it is crime to intensify class war in Germany today.

"The majority of German labor is much too sensible not to realize that only through love of our country can it be a blessing to us. German labor has an inherent part in the national entity just like all the others and no form of government therefore can hold itself together in the long run which is not supported by and has the confidence of the majority of labor.

"Under these circumstances I regard it as not only purposeless but outright detrimental that such inflammatory activity should exist as is nowadays apparent in many places. Every political party, of course, has a perfect right to solicit members unto itself. Only this must not be done in a manner that endangers quiet and order.

"The process called 'Putsch' meaning coup d'etat, remains a crime against the German nation, which today cannot bear any fresh upheaval."

SEES 'ECONOMY' IN CITY BUYING POWER

Edison Official Cites Making of Light for City Hall as an Example

That Boston is paying more to manufacture electricity to light City Hall than it would pay the Edison Electric Illuminating Company for the same power was the testimony of George R. Wallis, Edison sales superintendent, at a State House hearing today before Public Utilities Commissioner. The statement was made at a hearing on petition of the Boston Associated Cities of Boston to reduce rates of the Edison company.

Wallis was asked by Attorney Arthur D. Hill, counsel for the city, "Did you ever take the matter up with city officials?"

"Yes," replied Mr. Wallis.

"Will you kindly bring us here and report your conversation? May have to show this to be true?"

"Yes," replied the witness.

"We might have a similar conversation about the State House," said Commissioner Alonzo Weed. The witness said he thought his company had a report relative to comparative costs of lighting the State House and would endeavor to produce the figures.

GAS COMPANY A RIVAL.

Mr. Wallis also testified that the city of Boston was paying more to manufacture electricity in the Westworth and Trade schools than it could buy it for from the Edison company. He added that the city made the electricity in those schools partly for educational purposes and not to save money. He also stated the same thing held true of Newton City Hall and certain Newton public schools.

Mr. Wallis further insisted that if every customer who desired electricity produced it himself it would cost more than he now pays for it from the Edison.

Mr. Wallis said the gas companies were competitors of the Edison for store lighting business. He said he had no idea how many store lighting customers (A rate) were taken away from the Edison company during the year by gas companies, but "it was a great many."

"It would be a serious matter to the company if that became prevalent, wouldn't it?" asked Mr. Hill. Mr. Wallis said it would.

"And do you mean to tell the commission you have no idea as to its extent? Why?"

DIDN'T KEEP RECORD.

"Because I have no records," said Wallis. "At times we get a great deal of the gas companies' business and at other times they get a good deal of ours. In the last five years we have obtained a very large part of the gas companies' business. We have obtained more of theirs than they have of ours."

It next occurred to one to lower the A rate to attract gas consumers?

Mr. Wallis, who answered in the negative, said he was never told to discriminate in favor of one customer in preference to any other. He could not tell the relative value of electricity at 11 cents per hour and gas at $1.35 per thousand feet.

"What arguments do you use to get customers from the gas company then?" he was asked.

"I don't call on customers, but the salesmen are instructed to call the attention of the great convenience and value of our service over any other kind."

The witness said that a "negligible number" of customers left the Edison company and set up their own plants because they "thought they could do better for themselves." He said he did not know how much it would cost a rate customers (store lighting) to produce their own electricity.

"INTERESTS" AGAINST BONUS, SAYS GALLIVAN

Big business in Boston is trying to intimidate Massachusetts members men who intend to vote for a soldiers' bonus bill, according to Congressman Patrick J. Gallivan of Dorchester. He declares he has received forty telegrams in the last two days from "the leading business men of Boston," all couched in the same language, and showing, to the mind that it is distinctly organized pressure from the seats of the mighty in the world of high finance.

"Our leading business men are always the errand boys for the really Big financiers, who exercise their own hands in these matters," says the Congressman.

1,000 INTERESTED IN BIG STORE'S ELECTION

Keen interest has been aroused among the thousand employes of Houghton & Dutton's department store over the coming election of officers of the Mutual Relief Association. Hitherto little interest has been manifested, but this year the opposing candidates have injected a good deal of friendly rivalry into the event and campaigning is proceeding in regular "Boston fraternity" style. A rally is to be held in the interests of the candidates for the various offices on Tuesday, John F. Fitzgerald being among the speakers. The candidates are Bert Vittum, assistant general manager of the store, who is running for president, and Paul Terrell, advertising manager, who seeks the vice-presidency.

Halifax, Jan. 31.—The Red Cross liner Rosalind today abandoned the attempt to tow the raddorless Swedish steamer Thyra safely to port, and resumed her voyage to Halifax. No word has been received from the American freighter, Eastern Cross, reported yesterday proceeding to assist the Rosalind with her tow. The Thyra is adrift south of Cape Race. A strong northeast gale, which had prevented the Rosalind from making any progress with her tow yesterday, continues to rage today. Whether the Eastern Cross is alongside the disabled ship is not known.

CHARGE BRIDE'S LOVE WAS STOLEN

Worcester Husband Sued for Divorce in Turn Sues Man for Heart Balm

The romantic story of pretty Bernice Kaleskas of Worcester, who is attempting to obtain annulment of her marriage to Peter Mazolis of the same city because she says she was terrified into permitting the ceremony to be performed, took a new twist when Mazolis brought suit against Peter J. Kazlauskas of this city, president of the American & Lithuanian Textile Company, for $15,000, charging that Kazlauskas alienated the young bride's affections.

Bernice admits, according to friends, that if she can obtain her freedom from the bonds of matrimony that bind her to Mazolis she will immediately marry Kazlauskas. "I loved Kazlauskas the moment I saw him," she explains "and he loved me."

DANGER OF JUST LETTING A COLD RUN ITS COURSE

Common Coughs and Colds That Hang on Persistently Are Apt to Lead to Serious Complications, Declare Authorities.

Public Warned to Beware of a Three Days' Cough and Break It Up Before It's Too Late, by Taking Kurokol, the New Scientific Discovery.

Money refunded in Every Instance Where Kurokol Fails to Bring Relief.

Leading authorities are using every effort to arouse the public to the danger of letting common colds just run their course, for it is now definitely known that many serious lung complications such as pneumonia, grippe, etc., are the direct result of colds that hang on persistently.

Colds are treacherous and preventable and it is a duty everyone owes himself as well as his neighbors to break up any cold they may contract before some serious disease gets him in its clutches. It is pointed out that a three days' cough is nature's warning and the time for immediate action has arrived.

Of all the cough and cold remedies, Kurokol, the new scientific treatment which has been accomplishing such remarkable results all over the United States and Canada, undoubtedly provides the safest, surest and quickest, as well as the most practical, treatment for colds yet discovered.

According to the statements of thousands who have used it, Kurokol is almost magical in its effect. The first dose usually stops the tendency to sneezing and coughing, and relieves the feeling of discomfort, and the second and third doses usually suffice to stop the progress of a cold altogether.

The wonderful efficiency of Kurokol in breaking up a cold is best shown by the fact that all druggists are instructed to refund money in any case where it fails to give satisfactory results after three doses have been taken.—Advertisement.

U. S. SPEEDS UP PROBE OF BOSCH PLANT SALE

Records Are Ordered to New York From Hub for Investigation

Washington, Jan. 31.—Immediate transfer from Boston to New York of all records and documents in the sale of the Bosch Magneto Company to Martin E. Kern after its seizure by the Alien Property Custodian's office was ordered today by John W. H. Crim, Assistant Attorney-General, in charge of criminal prosecutions.

The papers are now in the hands of U. S. District Attorney Harris in Boston, where they have been presented to a federal grand jury that is making an inquiry into the matter.

Other available records of the department of justice relating to the transaction will be taken to New York by Mr. Crim and used in searching probe into the sale of the Bosch Magneto properties to Kern and his associates. Mr. Crim has taken personal charge of the inquiry in New York and will make night trips during the next few days for the purposes of examining the documents, and questioning individuals familiar with the sale.

SENATE TO WAIT.

Members of the Senate have decided to seek a public investigation as soon as the Grand Jury in Boston has finished its inquiry. Influential Senators today expressed the desire that no Senate action be taken which would handicap or embarrass the government in the prosecution of indictments which may be found by the Grand Jury in Boston.

The action of Mr. Crim is the outgrowth of the recent conference between President Harding and Thomas W. Miller, alien property custodian, it is understood. Miller was in Boston yesterday.

The Department of Justice withheld action in the matter until yesterday so that the Grand Jury in Boston might have ample opportunity to delve into the different phases of the sale of the properties and to find indictments if it wished.

HUB PROBE TO CONTINUE.

Mr. Crim's action in directing the transfer of the records does not disturb the inquiry of the Boston Grand Jury, it was learned, or have any effect upon indictments. There were indications today that Mr. Crim will extend the scope of his inquiry outside of the Bosch Magneto transaction, and make a general search into the seizure and sale of all properties by the Alien Property Custodian's office during the war.

Associates of Senator Calder of New York will confer with Attorney-General Daugherty and Mr. Crim before taking action in reintroduce the Calder resolution for the Senate investigation. While holding the matter in abeyance, there is no disposition on the part of the members to abandon a probe or turn the matter over entirely to the Department of Justice.

U. S. Officials Called to Boston in Probe

As the result of late disclosures concerning the sale of the Bosch Magneto Company to Martin E. Kern, an enemy alien and alleged ex-convict, a Federal Grand Jury investigation will be renewed in Boston.

Assistant United States District Attorney John E. Joyce of New York conferred again today with United States District Attorney Robert O. Harris in this city in order to prepare evidence for the Grand Jury, which is expected to be called at an early date.

The summoning of witnesses from Washington to Boston indicates the gravity of the affair. District Attorney Harris admitted today that Thomas W. Miller, chief custodian of alien properties who succeeded former Attorney General A. Mitchell Palmer in that capacity, had come to this city on a regular Grand Jury subpoena with records and documents which will be presented to the Grand Jury.

Mr. Miller, who returned to Washington last night after having conferred with United States District Attorney Harris and Assistant United States District Attorney Joyce, declined to give any information as to the character of the records which he brought to Boston. From another source, however, it was learned that the exhibits in question relate to the records of the sale of the magneto plant at public auction at Chicopee Falls, Mass., on Dec. 7, 1918, and embrace records of the investigation made by the Department of Justice.

With Miller came Congressman William W. Wilson of Illinois, special litigation advisor for the Alien Claims Division, and Paul Smith, chief of corporation management of the Department of Alien Property. Wilson and Smith returned to Washington with Miller.

The scope of the investigation was further indicated by the appearance, yesterday's conference of Thomas F. Lane legal adviser to the chief of the United States Air Service.

BANK OF FRANCE ERECTS BUILDINGS

Paris, Jan. —The Banque de France can teach American financiers a thing or two. As a semi-official institution it is required to divide its profits with the French government.

Its profits should have amounted to about 240,000,000 francs, according to an authoritative newspaper investigation. The French government, with its sorely-straitened finances, could have well used its share, but the bank preferred to sink its surplus money into buildings.

WORKMEN LOST SAVINGS IN KERN COUP

Organized Truck Manufacturing Company and Employes Bought Stock

Allentown, Pa., Jan. 31.—A prominent attorney of this city gave the American correspondent a sketch of the methods by which Martin Edward Kern made his money with such remarkable rapidity in this small city of 88,000 persons. In less than ten years he amassed a fortune said to be in excess of $2,000,000.

When Kern sold the Mack Motor Company to the International Motor Car Company he came out of the transaction with approximately $1,000,000 profit on an investment of $2,000, it was learned today.

In this transaction, John Mack, it is said, came out of the sale of his own company with less than he expected.

When the Bethlehem Motors Company was thrown into bankruptcy hundreds of workmen throughout this section lost their savings. Many of them were impoverished and the feeling against Kern ran high.

Now groups of them are discussing the possibility of legal means to force Kern to restore their money. Hope ran high in some quarters that a legal method of recovering this money might be found.

GOT ARMY CONTRACTS.

Perhaps Kern's greatest financial coup here was the organization and exploitation of the Bethlehem Motors Company.

This concern acquired a tract of land here and built a factory for the manufacture of motor trucks.

Through his connections Kern was able to get government contracts for trucks. Armed with these contracts he set about the sale of the stock in this city. The stock sold rapidly.

The sight of government contracts for trucks lured the unwary Pennsylvania Dutch, and they went into the scheme in large numbers. Employes of the plant also bought largely.

When the stock reached $33 a share Kern and his chief associates quietly sold out. Later, when his friend Arthur T. Murray, now president of the Bosch Magneto Company, departed, and the concern went into the hands of a receiver, the financial crash came as a great blow to Allentown.

Ralph G. Ludwig committed suicide when he realized that $10,000, the savings of a lifetime, had been swept away.

MACK SPURNED BOSCH DEAL.

Even Lawrence H. Rupp, Kern's counsel, and one of his remaining friends in Allentown, does not condone the Bethlehem Motors deal. Asked concerning it, Rupp said:

"I never could agree with Kern about Bethlehem Motors. I have recounted with him regarding it. I told him time and time again that whereas there was probably nothing original in it he was morally culpable. But Kern always justified his own actions by the aphorism 'business is business.'

John Mack was approached, it is said, and was offered a chance to go into the Bosch Magneto deal. Learning the nature of the plan, he put on his hat and walked out of the conference, refusing to have anything to do with it, the story runs.

Tells How to Darken Gray Hair With a Home-Made Mixture

Joicey Williams, the well-known American actress, recently made the following statement, about gray hair and how to darken it, with a home-made mixture:

"Anyone can prepare a simple mixture at home that will gradually darken gray, streaked or faded hair, and make it soft and glossy. To a half pint of water add 1 ounce of bay rum, a small box of Barbo Compound, and ¼ ounce of glycerine.

These ingredients can be bought at any drug store at very little cost. Apply to the hair twice a week until the desired shade is obtained. This will make a gray-haired person look twenty years younger. It does not color the scalp, is not sticky or greasy and does not rub off."—Advertisement.

FREE! Mail coupon below for Amazing Three Day Trial Treatment of IRONIZED YEAST. Watch the Results!

Hundreds of thousands of people all over the country are now using IRONIZED YEAST tablets, and the results reported in many cases are actually astonishing. For thin folks to gain five pounds or more on the very first package is not unusual. Complexions blotched with pimples, etc., are very often entirely cleared up within 10 to 14 days. As for increasing "pep" and energy, apparent "miracles" are reported by folks who were formerly run-down, weak, and lacking in physical and mental vigor.

Here Is The Secret!

Nature intended that you should have a well-developed figure, with the clear skin, sparkling eyes, and nerve power and strength that goes with it. If you are now thin and run-down it is because certain of Nature's laws have been disobeyed.

Nature requires that we get a proper amount of vitamines and iron into our systems. But these two essential elements, due to improper selection of foods and to modern methods of food preparation, are lacking in the modern diet. That is why so many of us are thin and run-down.

Results In Half The Usual Time

The thing to do, therefore, is to supply this lack. This you can do by taking with each meal two tiny IRONIZED YEAST tablets which contain in highly concentrated form, a specially cultured yeast grown under the strictest supervision for medicinal purposes—a yeast unequalled for its richness in the essential Water Soluble B vitamines. In addition it contains the correct amount of the two other vitamines —Soluble Fat A and Water Soluble C—which are equally important to health, yet which are lacking in the average modern diet.

These three vitamines bring excellent results even if taken alone—but when taken with a proper amount of easily assimilated organic iron, as in IRONIZED YEAST, these results are secured often in your half the usual time!

Watch The Quick Improvement

You will certainly be amazed at the quick improvement IRONIZED YEAST shows in you. Note how it immediately increases your appetite—how it enables you to get real joy out of every morsel of food you eat. See how quickly it drives away pimples, blackheads, etc.—how rapidly your skin takes on a new freshness and charm. See how your energy increases—how this newly acquired "pep" makes hard work or play a pleasure instead of a task. Try IRONIZED YEAST today! Pleasant to take—will not cause gas or in any way upset the stomach. Each IRONIZED YEAST tablet wrapped air-tight and moisture proof in waxed sanitape when made, thus assuring 100% purity and strength. Special directions for children in each package. Go to your druggist or mail coupon today—NOW!

Money Back Guarantee

IRONIZED YEAST is sold at all drug stores on a positive guarantee that the first package will bring satisfactory results—or your money instantly refunded.

WARNING!

Not all yeast will give the desired results. There are certain types of yeast which have absolutely no medicinal value. By insisting on the genuine IRONIZED YEAST, and refusing cheaper imitations or substitutes you can be sure that you are taking a vitamine tonic treatment which is unsurpassed in effectiveness, convenience and genuine health-building value.

'ADAM AND EVA' OFFERED AT ST. JAMES

Boston Stock Company Gives Excellent Performance of Comedy Drama

That delightful comedy drama, "Adam and Eva," was presented by the Boston Stock company at the St. James Theatre last evening. It is within easy recollection of Boston audiences when the play was acted at the Selwyn Theatre by a New York company.

The trend of the story is woven around the attempt of a much abused and enduring father to curb selfish and expensive frivolities of an easy going household.

The head of the family puts in vogue business methods to accomplish this, by appointing one of his business assistants to take complete charge of the family expenditures.

The proverbial worm turns and the family become the much abused, according to themselves. Of course, the young man falls in love with the daughter of the household as usual.

The important roles are by Messrs. Gilbert Kent and Charles and Miss More. Miss Roberts and other well-liked players of the Boston Stock company.

SOMERVILLE PLAYERS—Good, wholesome, genuine laughter was the result of the splendid efforts of the Somerville Players yesterday in their first stock presentation of Selwyn & Co.'s tremendously successful farce, "Twin Beds." This is the first time that this laugh-provoking comedy has been presented in stock anywhere in America. Its presentation at Somerville was one of unusual excellence and the piece clearly demonstrated its popularity by capacity houses, both in the afternoon and evening. "Twin Beds" is without question the funniest farce ever written.

GORDON'S OLD SOUTH—Clyde Fitch's most popular drama, "The Woman in the Case," pictured under the title "The Law and the Woman," proved a highly engaging attraction at Gordon's Old South Theatre last night. It is a Paramount picture, starring Betty Compson, and as such presented the fine handling that is invariably accorded adaptations from the spoken drama by this company. Betty Compson has a highly emotional role in which she acquitted herself with convincing artistry.

FRESH FROM PARIS

FROM Alice Bernard comes a sports frock of white cotton crepe figured in blue, of a sort which we hope will be widely worn for Spring. Its bodice confines in one with a tunic over the skirt, and all of this is edged with narrow white cire braid. The skirt is a straight one-piece model, repeating the line of pearl buttons that trims the bodice, while red bakelite and dull silver in the girdle adds a note of contrast.

A TAILLEUR, youthful and Spring-like, is achieved through the touching of gray velours with gray squirrel, and an unusual flight of fancy inspires Lanvin to thread the squirrel through the ends of the collar and let thin strips of it fly. To be entirely correct, one wears with it a blouse of rose mousseline with the braiding in dull green and gold, the sleeves slit nearly to the shoulder.

GILLETTE SEEN IN NEW PLAY AT HOLLIS

"The Dream Maker" Excellent Light Entertainment and Is Well Played

By FRED J. McISAAC, Dramatic Editor.

That William Gillette retains his personal popularity with Boston theatregoers was evidenced last night at the Hollis when he appeared in a new play called "The Dream Maker."

This piece was constructed by Mr. Gillette from a story by Howard E. Morton, a well-known New York newspaper man.

IDEA INGENIOUS.

The central idea is very ingenious, if rather besong the range of probability. The great stagecraft, the long experience and striking personality of Gillette make it go.

There isn't a trick to hold attention, to mystify, to thrill an audience which isn't in Gillette's repertory, and he uses a lot of them in the "Dream Maker."

Stripped of Gillettisms it would be a rather silly melodrama. It proposes a heroine so completely foolish that she would let another girl's fiance into her house in the dead of night and then be surprised when he made love to her, and to be arrayed in a night gown and a flimsy wrap when she does this indiscreet thing.

GIRL BEING FRAMED.

The girl is being framed by a gang of blackmailers and it would go hard with her for unlocking that French window had Gillette not stuffed in. He is a frail old man who has loved her mother. He has been an accomplished thief in his time and when all turn against the little heroine he goes to work to frustrate the blackmailing gang. He does so by a series of stage tricks which delight the audience.

The girl is thrown into such a state by the nocturnal inception that Mr. Gillette sets to work to convince her that it was all a dream. Hence the title of dream maker.

PIECE WELL PLAYED.

The piece is very well played and excellent light entertainment. Gillette's characteristic methods vary little from his usual, but the charm of his personality is irresistible.

The work of William Norris is the leading crook, of Myrtle Tannahill and Frank Morgan as assistant blackmailer and Marie Haynes as a middle-aged servant was admirable.

Miriam Sears, as the sweet, but addicted heroine, was as skilful as the part would permit.

Other Theatres

MODERN AND BEACON—A silent battle of stars is progressing at the Modern and Beacon Theatres this week, the annual being waged in the shape of the new photoplays headed by Bebe Daniels and Mary Miles Minter. The first named appears pictured in "Scrap Iron Southern," a modern Cinderella story, the drudge of a poor family, the heads of which had taken her from an orphanage where she, as an infant, had been placed as a foundling.

Miss Minter is shown in "Tillie," a story of a Pennsylvania Dutch colony, in which she is pictured as a miserly farmer's niece, condemned to housework servitude under her despotic uncle.

PARK THEATRE—A finely balanced bill of two freshly photoplays starts the week at the Park Theatre this week. A spectacular production, "Omar, the Tentmaker," a tale of ancient Persia, replete with the enjoying traits of wealth seen in bygone days, whereby a poor youth becomes possessed of a magic ring which has power to grant him most anything he wishes, but whereby he becomes involved in many complications, also proves upon his mind until it becomes an obsession, shameful to be comes an obsession shameful to be ended only by escape from it and all it means he takes his infant child and flees to the desert. His head wife follows and there, after adventure plays the games with fate, the untruth of the false accusation regarding his parentage is revealed and a happy reunion takes place. The accompanying photoplay is a lively comedy, "Watch Your Step," in which Cullen Landis portrays a young man just out after ten days in jail for speeding, and who is again liable for a like charge because he speeded a doctor in a great hurry to a patient dying.

LOEW'S ORPHEUM—Several particularly clever bills are characterized the excellence of the bill presented yesterday at Loew's Orpheum Theatre. Vaudeville and photoplays comprised the major portion of the entertainment. "Dance Follies," a pretentious and offered by a sextette of charming and clever debutantes, proved the headliner and won popular favor with the large audience.

SCOLLAY SQUARE OLYMPIA—Two of America's foremost song writers appear in person in a unique act, "A Trip to Holland," heading the vaudeville program at Gordon & Scollay Square Olympia Theatre. They rendered many delightful instrumental and vocal numbers. The company includes Bobbs Jones, Billy Frisch, Jennie Simonds, Leon Harlow, Ed Rose, Will Donaldson, Ted Shapiro, Willy White, Martin Fried and Hal Burke.

GORDON'S OLYMPIA — Hope Hampton, one of the stars of filmdom, gave luminous a delightful surprise yesterday when she appeared in person at Gordon's Olympia Theatre and demonstrated that she is not only a genius as a screen performer but is also a talented vocalist and clever entertainer. Rivaling this act in interest was a miniature musical comedy in three scenes entitled "Annabelle." This unique skit was given by a talented artist including Irene Lloyd, Henry Sharpe, Ruby and Betty Nevins, Katherine Powers and Alice Manning.

MUSICAL BILL FEATURE AT MAJESTIC

Eddie Dowling and Company Please in Comedy; George Mayo Scores in Farce

Two musical comedies in miniature form feature the excellent bill which opened for the week last night at the Majestic Theatre.

Eddie Dowling, late star of "Sidefolk Follies," and a former Boston boy and known here especially for his Irish and Jewish impersonations, stood out just a little ahead of the remainder of the bill.

Dowling had cast for himself and appeared as the head in an abridged comedy of which he is the author.

His comedy, "Stop, Look and Marry," was in five acts and was exceptionally well presented. His supporting company Mabel Withee, Catherine Matthews, Hebe Cohen, Rebecca Hyford and Dan Sullivan, was of the highest order.

Another Boston favorite, George Mayo, appeared in a screamingly funny farce, "The Build Sweet." Other acts on the well-appointed program included: Selma Braatz, bell juggler; Al Rome and Ed Cullen in "Odds and Ends of Vaudeville"; Joe Jackson, "The Beloved Vagabond in a rich bayolle act; Burns Dickinson and Gracie Deacon in "This and That," and Seven Blue Devils, "aeroplane acrobats."

WATSON IS STAR IN SHOW AT GAYETY

Joseph K. Watson and Will H. Cohan were the bright particular stars of Barney Gerard's "Girls de Looks," which was presented yesterday at the Gayety Theatre.

"Girls de Looks" has broken its own record for record entertainment values this season. This is especially so as regards comedy, a department in which it leads the field.

Watson and Cohan, as the two actors of stock experience, have no difficulty in gain riches at a bound in the mystic bowwow of Wall Street, are the central figures of a series of situations that are filled to the brim with laughs.

"Girls de Looks" has been augmented and mounted in a manner unusual for burlesque.

Plays That Remain

SHUBERT THEATRE—"Irene," the ever popular Montgomery and Stone musical comedy will open engagement at the Shubert Tuesday night. The New York success which has been booked in for many months.

PLYMOUTH THEATRE—William Hodge finishes a six weeks' engagement in "Long Live" at the Plymouth Theatre next Saturday when Hodge will be succeeded by George Arliss in the new Booth Tarkington play presented his engagement at the Plymouth.

RAE SAMUELS SCORES AT KEITH'S

"Blue Streak of Vaudeville" Share Honors With Hyams and McIntyre

Rae Samuels, properly named the "Blue Streak of Vaudeville," and the team of John Hyams and Leila McIntyre featured a well-balanced bill at Keith's Theatre last night.

Rae offered a repertorie of songs that proved very pleasing to a well-filled house, and John and Leila appeared in their latest success "Honeysuckle."

Williams and Wolfus, in from "Soup to Nuts," Arnaut Brothers, from the New York Hippodrome, Fenton and Field, offering "Apparition in Vermont," Six Hassens, whirlwind wizards; Murray and Gerrick in "Studying Stars," bits of Broadway, Markley, the human frog, and the great Leon and Co., wonder workers with Hindu magic, complete the vaudeville end of the bill.

Pathe News Weekly, Topics of the Day and Aesop's Fables are the movie offerings.

GORDON'S STRAND—Laughs a lot of people never dreamed o they were capable of were literally scared out of them by the breathlessly thrilling stunts Harold Lloyd performed in his inimitable comedy style in "Never Weaken," shown yesterday at Gordon's Strand Theatre, Upham's Corner, for the first time, and continuing until Saturday.

John Lowell, who played the leading role, in the filming of the book, that of the dissipated young father, and in later scenes the reformed drunkard, gave an intelligent and dramatic portrayal of the part. The film follows the book closely, and yesterday's exhibition of it showed that it will prove to be one of the most popular screen dramas that has shown in Boston this season.

"TEN NIGHTS IN A BAR ROOM" AT THE GLOBE

The screen version of "Ten Nights in a Bar Room," one of the best known books in the English language, opened at the Globe Theatre yesterday. That the old classic still has a strong grip on the public was testified by the big audiences which packed the theatre afternoon and evening.

John Lowell, who played the leading role, in the filming of the book, that of the dissipated young father, and in later scenes the reformed drunkard, gave an intelligent and dramatic portrayal of the part. The film follows the book closely, and yesterday's exhibition of it showed that it will prove to be one of the most popular screen dramas that has shown in Boston this season.

"CUDDLE UP" SHOW AT WALDRON'S A WINNER

A sparkling burlesque entitled "Cuddle Up" was the attraction that delighted big audiences at Waldron's Casino yesterday. In the two acts there were many brilliant scenes. Among the most novel of these was "Bobbie Land" and "The Joy Circus." Another scene of great beauty gave a glimpse of the snow clad mountain peaks in the Swiss Alps.

A plot which contained an abundance of merriment was skillfully woven throughout the entire production, and the piece was punctuated at frequent intervals by fascinating musical and dancing numbers.

Much applause greeted the singing and terpsichorean presentations of the large chorus.

FORMER COLLEGE BELLE ARRESTED AS CHIEF OF BANDIT GANG

A Queen Holding Down Her Throne! Among the charmers who make Palm Beach easier to enjoy, if that is possible, is Miss Zlipha Lawrence, New York society girl. (Underwood)

THIS BIRD Is Worth $1,000. "Uncle Sam" is the champion carrier-pigeon of the world and, living up to his name, he ruled the roost at the New York pigeon show. He flew from Chicago to Washington in the record time of 17 hours and 25 minutes. Nick Flatley says that any bird that's worth $1,000 has a right to feel flighty. The other bird is Miss Elsie Davenport, one of his 'air admirers.

AREN'T YOU GLAD YOU'RE NOT THIS SNAKE? Just think of having two mouths to feed, with the H. C. L. 'n' everything. The reptile is a rare freak of nature and is owned by M. Fraser of Addison, N. Y. It is believed to be the only two-headed snake in the country. There is another in England. (Fotograms)

MRS. EUGENE V. LAWSON, Oklahoma clubwoman, who says that the Indian hop is a more dignified and smarter dance than jazz. The war-dance would drive jazz out if it were given a trial, she avers. (Underwood)

SPRING "HAS Came!" It has if you go far enough South. This delightful hat is a hint of what Milady will wear this Summer. It is fashioned of delicate yellow straw interwoven with white cord. A cluster of foliage and fruit is the trimming. (Underwood)

STICKING TO IT! No perfumed and soft brushes caress this Hopi Indian girl. The brush her mother is wielding with such vigor is made of sticks. The treatment sometimes makes the Hopi girl hopping mad, but "as girls" must be beautiful. (Underwood)

ARE YOU IN RHYTHM with the Universe? Down Greenwich Village way (where everybody is supposed to be dizzy) they have erected a temple called "Rhythm" and beautiful girls and women are learning to interpret music into motion.

GET READY for the New Contest! Everybody's wearing 'em! Today's winner in the Pretty Motorist test is Miss Rita Brow, 88 Factory st., East Braintree. A check for $5 will be mailed to her.

EUNICE BRANHAM, former belle at a Southern college, has been arrested in Los Angeles as the alleged bandit chief of a group of young criminals who terrorized Dallas and Houston, Texas.

DID YOU EVER SEE A DANCING CAP? Here's one—something new for fair lovers of Terpsichore. Obviously it is Oriental in spirit and fashioned of glistening round and bugle beads on a foundation of net. (Underwood)

NOT ON THE SCENERIO! There were thrills aplenty for the photographers who were "shooting" this scene. Harry Piel, the German movie dare-devil, was to have ridden a horse over this shaky bridge held up only by a few cables, when the bridge gave away. The suspension was terrific! Piel plunged off the horse and both are seen hurtling through the air. Neither lost their lives. (International)

GETTING YOUR NUMBER! This signal box, strapped to the ushers, flashes to the patrons the number of seats vacant in a given row. All they have to do it stand beside the row and flash the number of seats vacant. Invented by Wilfred Guerin of New Orleans. (Underwood)

GETTING READY TO WIN IT BACK! Willie Hoppe, former billiard champion, is eager for his coming match (late in March) with Jake Schaeffer to whom he lost his championship title. It will be played in Chicago. (International)

KITTY often brings good-luck at a certain kind of game, but nearly always this kitty brings luck to the champion Cheshire, (England) women field hockey players. Miss Dahman, the goalkeeper, is holding him (or her). (International)

SAVING THE PRESIDENT'S SOLE! Continuing his policy of national economy, President Harding is carrying his thrift ideas into his own home. No longer is he discarding his worn shoes, but sends them to E. A. Spady, a cobbler of Emporia, Kan., shown above at his trusty last. What's the matter with Washington cobblers? (International)

JOE LYNCH BELIEVES IN MEETING ALL COMERS

By JACK CONWAY.

Joe Lynch, former world's bantamweight champion, who [illegible] Terry Martin at the Arena A. C.'s show Friday night, believes the best way to regain a lost crown is by going out and fighting for it [illegible] most ring title holders, Lynch did not lose his title, but lost it to Pete Herman. Instead he went out to get a return match with the New Orleans boy. Then along came Johnny Buff and grabbed the championship from Herman.

Lynch then set his sails for a tussle with Buff. And he intends to prove he is the best man in the world to go against the boss of the little fellows.

The New Yorker readily agreed to battle Terry Martin, who is one of the toughest bantamweights in the business. He says he will then be ready to meet with Joe Burman, who has been persistently avoided by Herman and Buff. Midget Smith, Young Montreal and Abe Friedman will also receive consideration from Lynch.

• • •

Of course, if Lynch bumps his head when he tries to clear the Martin hurdle Friday night, he will have to watch the bantamweight parade from a bleacher seat. But he hasn't got any intention of permitting even a rugged fighter like Martin to upset his merry victory surge.

Queer thing this fistic dope. A few days ago most of the fans figured Gibbons would not experience much trouble in defeating Pat McCarthy at the Faneuil A. That evening's efforts resembering neat a riot the short end are have been causing in recent boxing circles.

Ian fans point to it a fact that the best way to assure the defeat of a boxer is to make him a top heavy favorite in the betting.

"They were betting 10 to 1 Mike Gibbons would wallop Robson," said one close follower of the grand old fistic art. "And Malden Tommy almost won by a knockout.

FINANCE AND BUSINESS

By B. C. FORBES

New York, Jan. 31.—Other people can't do very much for you, and it's just as well. Those who have things made too easy for them rarely accomplish much.

* * *

Young John D. Rockefeller remarked this week that lots of people came to him to tell him of the wonderful things they could with $100,000; but he added, "I can sit down and in five minutes show how much harm he can do with $500,000. Enterprises are frequently weakened by unwise giving of money."

* * *

Carnegie would never give a beggar a nickel. He declared that he didn't want to employ any man to go about begging.

Henry Ford also has the strongest objections to giving anyone money, lest it have a pauperizing effect.

* * *

I once asked a multi-millionaire who has given away perhaps $20,000,000 for worthy purposes, to lend $5,000 to a business in which I was interested, and, although I knew him very intimately, he flatly refused, because he was not willing to help the business be small, but because he felt it would be better for the run that the enterprise should work out its own salvation. His view also is that it is dangerous to make easy terms for or any young business to get into debt.

* * *

As a matter of fact, a great many concerns, large as well as small, in this country, are today suffering seriously because too much has been easy for them to go heavily into debt during the war boom. Bankers lent them millions without bothering about collateral. Capital galore was invested in bricks and mortar and machinery. Had it been less easy to plunge so heavily into debt, those concerns would not be so badly off today.

* * *

Have not too many of us contracted the habit of looking too much to others for assistance? There has developed an inordinate tendency to turn to the government and ask favors from it. The railroads, the farmers, shipowners, labor, manufacturers, importers, advocates of home-building, etc., all want Washington to come to their rescue and deliver them from their various troubles.

* * *

Men constantly come to me or write to me to find them jobs with unlimited possibilities. Letters asking me to launch some kind of enterprise and the next also are common. Requests for information as to where capital can be obtained are as common as snowflakes in Winter.

* * *

And do we not see this disposition to rely upon others illustrated by international events? Many countries seem to think that they are entitled to demand that the United States hand over funds to them. Some of the nations seem to take it for granted that it is the business of other nations to bolster them up. Payment of international debts appears to be the matter to be looked upon, in most directions, as entirely optional. The feeding of starving millions, whether in Russia or in China or elsewhere, evidently is nobody's business except America's.

* * *

Business men have been leaning too heavily on their banks. In too many industries there has sprung up a habit of depending too much on price regulating or associations formed for other purposes. Workers place their fate entirely in the hands of their paid leaders. It sometimes looks as if men out of work depended too much upon employment bureaus and not enough upon their own initiative to find jobs.

* * *

Parents look to others for the training of their children and even to the safeguarding of their children's health—they expect the school authorities to find out physical defects and to recommend or even supply remedies. For example, the other week my six-year-old son came home from school and announced that he needed a given forty cents a week to furnish him with milk each day for lunch.

* * *

Are we not in danger of losing that spirit of self-reliance which is so essential to success in every line of endeavor? Are we not deteriorating into leaners instead of aspiring to become leaders? Are we not too concerned about getting assistance than about standing on our own feet and fighting our own battles?

* * *

It was not thus that America was built up.

It was not thus that men who have reached the top fought their way there.

* * *

The remedy?

Each of us must find it, and apply it, for himself or herself.

Copyright, 1922, by B. C. Forbes.

Wall Street Briefs

The steamship syndicate, due in New York on Saturday, has $5,000,000 in gold aboard for Chase, Lee & Co. This will bring the receipts of that house to date up to $9,45,1000.

White Motor Company, which completed in 1921 at a little less than $200,000 deficit, it is understood that it made a profit for the last quarter and is now earning at the rate of $1,000,000 a year on its common.

Stockholders of the U. S. Rubber Co. have sufficient an increase in the authorized common stock from $6,000,000 to $8,000,000.

In 1921 there were floated in this country new security issues to a total of $4,231,820,-478 as compared with $4,050,000,184 for the preceding year.

Dividend Declarations

Hazell & Myers Tobacco Co. declared quarterly dividends of 1¾ per cent. on common and 1¾ per cent. preferred, payable March 1 to stock of record February 15.

Standard Harvester Co. declared quarterly dividend of $1.75 on preferred, payable March 1 to stock of record Feb. 10.

Stocks Rally in Last Hour; Irregular at Close; Money 5 Per Cent.; Exchange Up

TRADING DULL AND RANGE NARROW

American Ice Sells at a New Record High; Market Without Feature

By W. H. ROSS,
Financial Editor.

Stocks were dull and inactive at the close in New York, after rallying in the last hour. Trading was comparatively dull, transactions aggregating less than half a million shares. The market behavior was puzzling. Consolidated Gas was one of the strongest issues late in the session, advancing four points. Its rise was due to the declaration of a regular dividend. Stocks to gain several points included Gulf States and Orpheum. Covering of shorts helped the list in general. Most losses as well as gains were averaged small.

OPENED IRREGULAR.

After a quiet and irregular opening the market weakened a little in the first hour and rallied in the second, being not far from the initial level at noon. It fell off again slightly during the morning. American Ice advanced more than three points to its highest record price. Sugars, which were rather strong at the start, coppers and motors were slightly reactionary, steels were steady and oils and rails were mixed in movement. Sinclair, which sold ex-rights and premium, advanced a point during the forenoon. Weak ones included Rosch Magneto, Butte & Superior, Baldwin Woolen, Chandler and Union Pacific. Mexican Petroleum rallied after opening a small loss. There is said to be an extensive short interest in this and a number of other specialties.

BROKERS DID LITTLE.

One statement from New York read: "Commission business was small. Most of the fill orders came from the selling side and consisted chiefly of liquidation of speculative lines that had been accumulated around the middle of the month."

Borrowing demand for stock decreased after the market closed yesterday. Call money opened at 5 per cent. today and foreign exchange was firm. Demand sterling was moved at $4.27¾ at the start. At mid-day the trend for stocks in general was upward and there was not much change up to the last hour.

IMPROVEMENT IN EXCHANGE.

As there was nothing new to talk about in regard to trade or stocks, Wall Street discussed the advance of foreign exchange this morning. With demand sterling moving to $4.27¾, or about 56 cents below parity, it was remarked that international trade must be reopening before this had been realized. The higher exchange rates are the more inducement there will be for foreigners to buy in the American market. Belief prevails that the worst phase of the business depression has passed and from Spring onward there will be a steady, but rather slow climb. By the time trade and industry approximate normal people in general will have learned to be satisfied in the habit of economy as they were in extravagance when war was causing untold profits. Nothing less than usual interest is evinced in the next Federal Reserve system statement and a further gain in reserve ratio is expected. It is reported that the bank call rate at Chicago is easier. Western money to New York. But not enough has appeared as yet to affect the quotation.

Boston Financial Notes

The American Woolen Co. will open the books as of the close tomorrow, including scrip and old and new preferred.

The business of the Greenfield Tap & Die Corporation is increasing and is substantially rate and the improvement is reflected by an advance in the price of its shares.

The crescent point in the 750 level of the Hillcrest well and the finding of the Hillcrest lime and dolomite formation are considered signs that the ore body has the appearance of commercial values.

Coal production by the New River Co. this month will approximate 100,000 tons, as against 100,000 for December. After deducting dividends of $100,000 on old preferred stock, Eastern Steamship Co. netted $1,000,000 in 1921, as compared with $2,000,000 in 1920.

The East Butte Copper Mining Co. paid a dividend of less than $5,000 for the three-billion group of silver mines. Since operations were started in 1920, there have been extracted from $8,000,000 to $15,000,000 worth of ore from these properties.

Arrangements have been filed by Business Secretary Cornelius Bowles, acting Receiver for the Tower Consumers' Co., Boston, 2,000 shares of preferred and 1,500 shares of common without par value. Morris Pennino Co., Trustee, Freehold, $100,000.

Chicago Grain Market

PUBLIC SERVED BY COMMERCE CHAMBER

Anyone Who Does Not Support It Has No Right to Criticise, Spillane Declares

BY RICHARD SPILLANE

Philadelphia, Jan. 31. — Out of thirty retailers in Walnut street upon whom he called in an effort to get them to join the Chamber of Commerce, a young man got thirty declinations. Most of those approached excused themselves on the plea of hard times. Others said they didn't see where the chamber was of any good to them.

What if all men of business reasoned as do those thirty?

A Chamber of Commerce is a public service organization. It is protective and promotive of the interests of the community. It is the clearing house for work of which the public never knows. Anyone who does not support it has no license to criticise.

It is not fair that the burden of supporting such an organization should be put upon a comparatively small percentage of the population. The 6,000 or 7,000 membership is a body as the Philadelphia chamber does not mean that all of six or seven thousand pay membership dues in various business earnest men take five, ten or more memberships and pay for them. Many times do members of many who should bear their share of the expense, but do not.

Unemployment has increased the number of readers in the periodical and reference rooms of the Free Library so much that it has become difficult to get easy access to magazines and reference books. The condition is aggravated by the fact that here the libraries are not open on Sundays and holidays as in most large cities.

Men wait on the library steps every morning for entrance to the periodical room. Most of the early comers seek publication devoted to business and industrial subjects. The room is filled practically to capacity all day and at the luncheon and dinner hours some of the readers have to stand.

On a recent Saturday afternoon eighty-three men and women were counted, a third of them standing. Many would leave because they but for the lack of standing room.

Some magazines are used almost constantly from nine in the morning until nine at night and become so worn in a month as to be unfit for binding.

Many of the readers are unemployed persons seeking to improve themselves and to prepare when they again are able to get work. The library, as a general thing, accords courteous young men and women who flock in at noon or at night to add to their store of knowledge, or to fit themselves for better positions than now they are filling.

WALL ST. GOSSIP

By MONITOR

NEW YORK, Jan. 31.—Monday's operations in the stock market reflected a feeling of uncertainty. There were isolated examples of strength among the specialties, but the general undertone was reactionary, and the volume of trading suggested dullness. Short selling was not particularly in evidence, but there appeared to be a good deal of scattered liquidation.

THERE were a few price movements of more than average scope on both sides of the market. Kresge, Corn Products and International Mercantile Marine preferred were relatively strong. Studebaker also displayed firmness until the last hour. On the other hand, marked weakness developed in U. S. Food Products, Atlantic Gulf and Consolidated Gas. Sharp reactions also took place in American Can, American Sumatra, Davison Chemical and some of the oil stocks.

NEWS with a bearing on the market was about evenly divided. Foreign exchanges were very strong. Sterling sold higher than at any time since August, 1919. Most of the buying came from London, and foreign bankers and brokers reported that pounds and francs were scarce. An excellent demand for investment securities is indicated by the manner in which the $30,000,000 of Burlington 5's per cent. was absorbed.

THE less hopeful feeling in financial circles is not explained entirely by the hardening in the rate for call money, or the reactionary tendency that has made its appearance in the commodity group, with the exception of grain. It is true that cotton has been weak, and more or less unfavorable news in the circulation regarding the pressure of offerings of copper metal. Undoubtedly much of the hesitation may be traced to apprehension over the passage of the Soldiers' Bonus bill, and the trail of consequences in the form of added tax burdens. At any rate, present uncertainties over the action of Congress do not tend to produce confidence in the market outlook.

WEAKNESS in several specialties, spread gradually to the general list with the result that a general decline in prices was in progress when the market closed. Some of the selling in the more speculative issues was of professional origin, but there also was apparent a considerable quantity that an extensive distribution of stocks had taken place in advance of the wild demonstration in the stock shares ten days ago, hence a cautionary feeling toward making new commitments.

ATLANTIC, GULF & WEST INDIES was the first issue to show real weakness in yesterday's trading. Although the earnings there are not ready for several weeks, it is known that the company suffered large losses during 1921 as a result of the general decline in prices was in progress when the market closed. Some of the selling in the more speculative issues was of professional origin, but there also was apparent a considerable quantity that an extensive distribution of stocks had taken place in advance of the wild demonstration in the stock shares ten days ago, hence a cautionary feeling toward making new commitments.

U. S. FOOD PRODUCTS was another weak feature of the early trading. Under large offerings the price declined nearly two points to a new low record for all time. After the regular meeting of the board yesterday President Palmer said: "There is nothing to be given the public now." The financial difficulties of the corporation have been thoroughly aired, and the question of further banking accommodation remains the uncertain factor. There was little support in evidence."

A DEMONSTRATION in the motor stocks in the later afternoon attracted attention only for a few moments, and the relapse was even sharper than the advance. Studebaker was bid up a little over two points against the short interest, but a large volume of selling orders in other stocks was plain evidence of the purpose of the move in Studebaker. The buying of the motors was not impressive, while the selling elsewhere in the list was of excellent character.

THE oil stocks were featureless prior to the announcement from London that the Royal Dutch and Shell interests are about to issue additional stock of 10,000,000 rounds in one-pound shares. Both Royal Dutch and Shell declined on this news, and the rally had an adverse effect on other oils. There was little evidence of important support in any of these stocks. Some scalp buying was in evidence, but nothing that would indicate sustained strength.

GOLD RESERVE OF U. S. EXCEEDS BANK NOTES

This Country Chief Storehouse of Precious Metal With Production Being Cut

By C. B. EVANS.

Chicago, Jan. 31.—Events that don't happen are much more interesting than most engagements. We have had extraordinary cluste of non-happenings in the business world just at this time which have obsessed the minds of mankind into all sorts of gorgeous results. With cash money in New York recently at 2½ per cent., and more recently at 6, at a time when one finances vast quantities of investment money coming into hands which do not know just what to do with it for the moment, and beginning January with the bond market slack at a time when the calendar says it should be lively, and with staffing and other European exchanges advancing in the face of accumulating indebtedness to Old World—there is a decided contradiction to programs that have been worked out for January 1922.

The rediscount rates of the Federal Reserve banks ratified off in a lively way the latter part of last year and the public mind was prepared for further declines this month, but there is a check in the air, since the Bank of England, with temporary loans in open market at 2 per cent., a third less than sticks hard to its discount rate of 5 per cent. after the decline of 1 to 2 in eight months of the year. At the moment the strength of the money market is attributed in part to the United States Treasury offering of $400,000,000 bills, but that is a sort of incident that has been happening all the way along and does not count for much.

OUR HUGE SURPLUS.

That money rates should be low is indicated by gold reserves of the Federal Reserve banks greatly in excess of Federal Reserve notes in circulation, which means that there is a good dollar back of every Federal reserve note and then a surplus of over $700,000,000 of the precious metal.

The explanation of the lack of confidence, and we all know what causes the lack of confidence, and now we know what causes that lack. More action is produced in Europe than ever before in the history of the nation of the pleasing variety. It is not Baltaze, but Millerand, Ebert and what not represented by the heads of those countries what they call francs, marks, etc., but no nobody wants these men refuse to work, but because the profits on the industry are reduced. There is no premium now quoted on gold in Europe, though doubtless premiums are paid at times, and the close of South Africa is so far as we know the last great gold camp of the world. This country leads its production in half and nobody now hears of the richness of any camp. Hopes are not hopes to get much out of India, where once the metal is mined it is immediately buried and the hoarders.

A SEA OF PAPER MONEY.

Gold is even shying at the United States. The supposedly good guessers say that the movement in this direction has come practically to an end. We remain an island in a world-wide sea of paper money and it is a question whether the denizens of that sea will not say to us, "Sit on your bags of gold, they are nothing to us. We have plans of our own." The possibilities are that we should not be disturbed, that we shall win out by so doing, but it will be through many tempests and we may be pretty well anchored. It would be a difficult task for even the powerful nations of Europe to dislodge us from our bags, such a hold on the human heart that the love of it has become like one of the native instincts, and it is not the or the physical appetite calling for

But with all the learning of the professors and the conference of the powers, nobody has yet come to the method of getting back to a universal gold standard other than that of simple dollars of undiminished weight. The loss likely measure of reducing governments expenses and going back to the simple life of producing wealth, conserving all forces, living at peace with one's neighbors on condition that which Europe is now so remote that it is hardly more than a memory.

JUDGE HAYDEN ATTACKED BY WATSON

City Council President Charges Probation Officer Keene Runs Roxbury Court

President James A. Watson of the City Council attacked Judge Albert F. Hayden of the Roxbury Municipal Court during a session of the City Council when an attempt was made to have that body go on record as favoring the popular election of judges by direct vote.

He charged that Judge Hayden was allowing Probation Officer Joseph Keene to be judge and that Keene was responsible for the demands made.

"I have no quarrel with the judges of Massachusetts," said Watson. "But I have in mind one or two who ought not to be on the bench and if we had elections by the people they would not be elected to the smallest position carrying with it judicial power.

"I have in mind a local judge, a man who never would have been thought of as a judge except for his connections with a corporation attorney connected with a certain firm of attorneys, the biggest firm of corporation lawyers in Boston and men who run a large national bank.

"It will was a question of election by the voters, he would never even have been nominated; would never even been considered, because he would be mad. If he were elected, he would not allow his court to be run by a probation officer. And, gentlemen, if you want to know the name —I am not in the habit of beating about the bush—it is the Roxbury Municipal Court, where Joseph Keene, a probation officer, is the judge and is responsible for the decisions.

"I have been waiting for this opportunity and I will speak plainly. I don't mince matters. I will give names. I mean Judge Albert F. Hayden, the man who caused Democratic Representatives to introduce bills in the Legislature without referendum to put men on the county payrolls at large salaries, when we are the ones who have to pay the salaries."

Watson's attack upon Hayden was made during his argument favoring the passage of Councilor Moriarty's resolution favoring the bill of Senator John J. Cregg of Dorchester, now considered by the Committee on Judiciary at the State House, which would mean the election of judges by direct vote of the people.

The resolution was sent back to the executive committee after much wrangling. Councilors Collins, Ford and Lane voted against it. At a special meeting which is to be held today the question may be opened up again.

President Watson declared that "the judges are looked upon with suspicion by right thinking people, whether rightfully or wrongfully."

Councilor Donoghue argued that he believed that the judiciary of Massachusetts were becoming more autocratic than democratic and that the people should elect them.

LETTERS ARE ON WAY TO TEST ENTRANTS

Chance of a Lifetime Is in Your Hands; Watch Mails for Them

Five thousand of approximately twenty-two thousand letters addressed to readers who sent the Boston American sets of answers to the recent $5,000 Book Title Picture Test were on the mails this morning. All will have been sent out before contestants see the next re-prints of Test Drawings. These letters acknowledge the receipt of your answers and contain something else of great importance.

Because you read here from time to time of "Watch and Wait" contestants, of somebody who went wrong on a Correct Title, and who forevermore longed that he or she could have one more chance, you must not get the idea that there are a great many "kicks." There are not. The letters are printed because they ARE unusual.

KICKS HELPFUL.

More than twenty-one thousand contestants, in the opinion of the Test Editor, have every title correct up to date and will continue to report perfect scores. Many others will reach the 20's. The earlier problems were simplicity itself. Those who submitted the Test cards in SMOKING RACK will direct ERR TWO boxes at A MAN SITTING ON A SHADED BENCH UNDER TWO FLAGS watching SPIT. THE DRAWING IN THE CLOUDS making DANCING MEN in the TRAIL OF THE ASCENT OF MAN is the TRAIL OF THE MEN DOWN GRADE was nothing but WHO TOOK THE CAKE. The Test Editor has received HEADLESS CANDIDATES, CANDLELABRA, THE STUDIOUS CANDLE, THE FAIL, THE CANT and Lifted the Fringe.

And the contest goes on and on and on, with varying success. To the Test Editor the remarkable thing is that the writer of the letter should have done so well for part of the way, should then go so far away from the trail for two or three days and, eventually, round to again be in Correct Title waters.

FIRST CHOICE BEST.

This reasing (writes R. L. D.) who is a "Motor Cars" fan, has had his toes heard my vocabulary! I was certainly guilty. Not at first. Having known American artist but at those now who advised me to write of "Motor Cars." My own idea was "Motor Cars." The folks in the house were sure of the building that electric cars are not motor cars. I insisted, and, having spent hours in them to make them go, later I marked off all the titles that I had marked right at first. I should have stayed by my guns. I should have stayed by my first choice. I will not be caught in such an incorrect title every second day. Of course you will say: "Why don't he letter in the text one?"

Oh, you will, will you? No one ever mastered the method of one of these entertainments on his first attempt. The Test Editor does not take too seriously the letters from fifty contestants who more than twenty thousand others understand. Each one is pleased, excited and that the rules must never be changed. Each one is sure he never will, or will or bust, I have no sick comics.

The Test Editor takes them seriously enough, though, in referring every day that 21,999 are not wallowing him in not letting the "kicks" take away his appetite.

Following your daily report of progress is always that many more than have not failed even to get the Correct Title of No. 1.

Such people should not have entered the contest at all. Such people are, in some cases simply, I should like to know what they are. Are they dumb? Are they blind? Are they color blind? Are they? Are they? Are they

To the Pullman Car Company Dear Sirs:

If You Cut Down Your Workmen, Shouldn't the Public Cut YOU?

Copyright, 1922, Star Company.

In the middle of war excitement, when every corporation got everything it wanted, the Pullman car gentlemen added enormously to their charges. They had no upkeep of tracks, no right of way. The railroad companies haul the Pullman cars simply to accommodate passengers.

The Pullman company followed the fashion and increased its income by promptly taking millions a year more from its passengers. Every travelling man knows it to his cost.

Then the Government put a heavy tax on the increased Pullman fare, and the system was working nicely.

There was only one fly in the Pullman ointment. It was a labor union fly.

Before the war Pullman employes had not been allowed to organize unions. They were told, "You are servants; consider yourselves such."

But when Government took over the railroads and the Pullman employes asked McAdoo if they might form unions his reply was: "Of course; go ahead and organize. You have as much right to form unions as George M. Pullman had to form his corporation."

So Pullman employes became organized and managed to get a little more money, which wasn't at all what the corporation had planned.

At present, with war ended and the power of Government leaning strongly against labor unions and high wages, the Pullman company sees "light in the darkness, sailor." It is doing what it can to discourage unionism among its men. Some of the things it does are pretty small; for instance, deducting forty-five minutes from the pay of a Pullman conductor for each meal that he eats on the assumption that he isn't working while he is eating his meal, this in spite of the fact that he can be called at any moment by the passengers. The company is also trying to cut wages and will probably succeed, for that is the fashion just now.

Why doesn't the public take the hint? Why not reduce the Pullman charges? Why should they have been allowed to add fifty per cent. to a service that was NOT made more costly by the war? And why should they maintain the increase?

The increase in labor cost amounted to little. Huge profits have come in, and the profits have supplied additional funds for interesting industrial experiments—buying out other companies, building up the biggest car-building concern in the world, etc.

Wouldn't it be a good idea for Congress to say to the Pullman company: "You tell your workmen that they must get back to normal, back to the old wages. We have decided that NORMALCY might as well begin with YOU. So we shall put you back to normal, back to the old charges, and thus help business by making travel less preposterously expensive.

Children Are Savages

Parents Should Know It

Copyright, 1922, Star Company

A little boy, crippled in his arm and leg by infantile paralysis, committed suicide by hanging himself from a gas pipe in his father's bathroom. The bigger boys at school made fun of him, as he dragged his withered leg, painfully, and some disliked him because he was more intelligent than they, and the little girls liked to listen to his stories about animals.

Are children monsters? No, but they are, with few exceptions, little savages. They represent in their childhood the savage age of man, just as before birth they pass through all the different stages of animal life, from the single cell up.

A very intelligent teacher has said that parents would be happier if they could realize that their daughters from fourteen to seventeen are not little angels, but little demons. Many parents would be happier and education would be more intelligently managed if it were understood that the boy of ten represents the wild Arab or wild Indian, and must be treated accordingly, not brutally or cruelly, but tactfully and with UNDERSTANDING.

If a wolf breaks its leg the other wolves eat it. When the Indians captured an enemy and made him helpless they tortured him. The young children, with few exceptions, are naturally cruel, naturally untruthful, like the savages, naturally taking what isn't theirs.

Parents that do not understand this, and that fly into fine frenzies because their children do exactly what THEY, themselves, did, are not very intelligent parents.

Here's a Serious Change

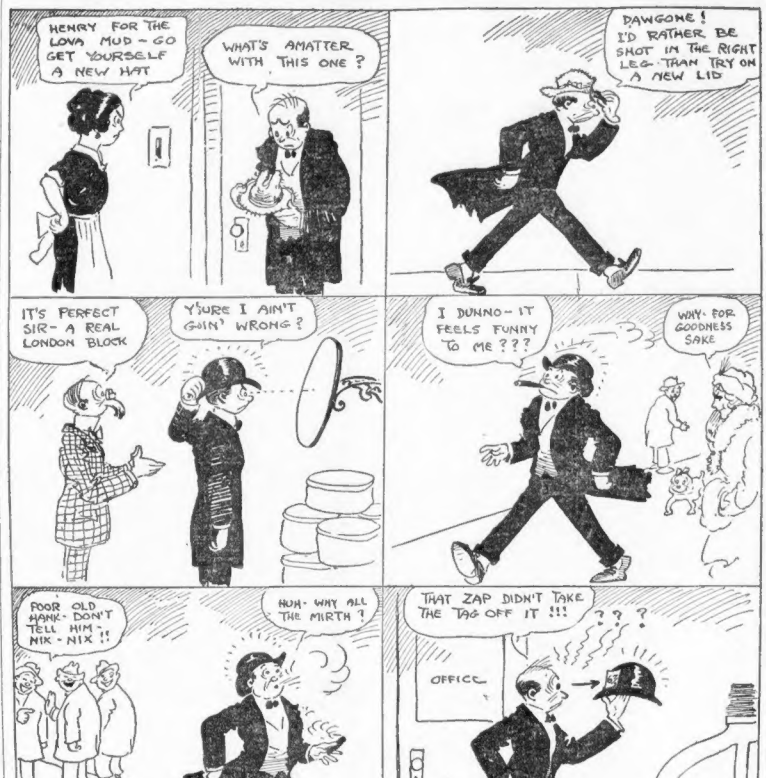
Actually Holding Men Responsible

Copyright, 1922, Star Company

The Mayor of Youngstown proposes to check immorality and goes right at it. For a refreshing change, he begins with the men. He says, "Vamping motorists must go. I want them locked up and given the full extent of the law. This includes well dressed men with big automobiles that stand near corners and invite young girls to take rides with them."

The old method was to wait until a young girl had TAKEN the ride, then lock her up in the police station and let the man with the big automobile go home and forget it. Methods are improving. Perhaps women voting has had something to do with it.

There's Always Something to Queer It



Don't Quit, Just Keep Going!

THERE are many young men on earth who fail because they lack ambition and determination to advance. There are many more whose trouble is nasty ambition. They fail to realize their present chances in their hurried reaching out for something better. You may see in any club, poolroom or other resort for wasting time crowds of young men smoking and deploring their lack of success.

"I've been working three years at the same job and the same salary," one will say, "and I don't see what chance I have for getting ahead."

The young man who talks in this way does not realize that success depends on developing the qualities which are in him. He can develop them if he will, no matter what his place in the world. Once he is ready to do good work, once he is developed, the work will find him out.

When Napoleon Bonaparte was resting from his labors at St. Helena he used to tell this story:

"One day on parade a young lieutenant stepped out of the ranks much excited to appeal to me personally. He said to me that he had been a lieutenant for five years and had not been able to advance in rank. I said to him, 'Calm yourself. I was seven years a lieutenant, and yet you see that a man may push himself forward for all that.'"

He studied and mastered the art of war. He wrote the history of Corsica, and no one would publish it. He wrote a drama which was never acted. He wrote a prize essay for the Academy of Lyons, and did not win the prize. On the contrary, his effort was condemned as incoherent and poor in style. These were a few failures; enough to make your ordinary young man throw up his hands and say: "I've done all I can do; now let the world look out for me."

SHE LIKED IT.

Roxbury family had a tall, rawboned Swedish hired girl who gave such poor service that she was discharged. She asked for a recommendation.

The man of the house said, "Certainly," and sat down and wrote the following: "To whom It May Concern: This is to certify that Tillie Swanson has been with us some time and that she is the tallest hired girl we have ever had."

"Ay take you most kind," she said. "It is very nice."

"L" Trustees' Good Work

THE public trustees of the Boston Elevated are making good in excess of all that was expected of them. Ridiculed, sneered at and at times vilified, they have patiently stuck to their ill-paid jobs and have come through with a very satisfactory record.

In their third annual report they show that the company cleared all expenses and charges with a surplus of more than $1,000,000. With this balance and with the excess revenues that are morally certain to accrue from operations, they announce that the $1,000,000 reserve fund, necessary under the law, will soon be made up, and then repayments of the amounts assessed on the various towns for previous deficits will begin.

When these assessments have been repaid, the law then allows a reduction in the fares. In effect, however, the repayment of these assessments is virtually the beginning of the lower fare period, as the people of the cities and towns served will be practically receiving a rebate. Furthermore, although the basic rate of fare is still regarded as 10 cents, actually, the company has been charging five cents on a considerable portion of its lines, the report showing that 18 per cent. of the passengers carried paid only five cents last year. In addition to thus making a satisfactory financial showing, the road and equipment have been put in excellent condition.

As the board itself says: "In the return to a better financial footing with assurance of ability to procure sufficient revenue to meet the costs of service, the trustees welcome the opportunity to deal more liberally with questions of accommodations for the public, and less attention to drastic measures aimed merely at economies. It is now possible, without abandonment of business methods or disregard of economies that make for efficient service, to decide upon the merits requests involving additional usefulness and larger convenience for the car-riding public." This, of course, means an improved service, and it were idle to hold that it is not needed.

We repeat that the "L" trustees have made good and deserve the thanks of the public.

WHERE DO YOU GO FOR ADVICE?

When you need counsel to get out of difficulties, do you consult friends who occupy about the same station in life and who have had about the same experiences?

If so, how can you expect such persons to give you the advice which is beyond anything of which they have direct knowledge or experience—advice on matters which they have not been trained to consider and master?

Why not go the person who has lifted himself out of the trench in which you are stationed, the man who has gone over the top?

The men who have been staggered and checked in their progress by just such problems as confront you are not the ones to advise you.

Without the ability to lift themselves how can you expect practical advice on how to extricate yourself from the position which baffles you?

Look around at the successful men and figure on what their problems have been on the way to eminence.

Don't go to Dick, Tom and Harry for advice and suggestions on things they know nothing about or they themselves would have profited. Go to the man who knows and then follow his instructions.

About the 'Right Hand Drive'

Copyright, 1922, by Star Company.

IN England men driving coaches and other carriages sat on the RIGHT HAND front seat of the coach, and turned to the left when they met another coach. Thus sitting on the right hand side and turning to the LEFT, they could look down and see just how near they were to the wheel of the approaching vehicle on narrow roads.

In France they turn to the right. And here in the United States while continuing to sit on the right hand side of the vehicle, we adopt the French rule and turned to the right. Thus we could not see the left hand wheel next to the approaching vehicle.

With automobiles we continue turning to the right, of course, but now the driver has his seat on the left, so that as he turns to the right, he can see the wheel of the carriage passing.

On the other hand he pulls up to the curb on the right hand side, police regulations require it and he cannot see the curb which he is approaching.

It would seem as though the left hand side of the street should be the side at which cars stop, if they are to sit on the left hand side.

Anyhow, here is a letter from a man who thinks a change is needed. Other automobile drivers may be interested:

WHY not return to the right hand drive in the U. S.? A driver always wants to see how far to the RIGHT he can keep WITH SAFETY. With a left hand drive he cannot see his right wheel; also, when going up to the curb he invariably scrapes his tires on the side or else burrs the ends of the bolts on the lugs, and very often breaks or bends these bolts. Furthermore, there is often broken glass in gutters next the curb which a driver cannot see in a left hand drive car. HARRY A. COCHRANE.

A HARD JOB.

It is still pretty hard to get a woman who is compelled to do her own housework to believe that her husband is successful, no matter how honestly he may be getting his income.

THE MEAN MAN SPEAKS.

"This hash," said the star boarder, "makes me think of the three graces."

"How is that?" asked the eager landlady.

"It is to be taken with faith, hope and charity."

To the Editor

Is Bonus a Calamity?

Editor Boston American:

Is the bonus an economic calamity? Mr. Mellon, secretary of the treasury, declares that the granting of a bonus to ex-service men will burden the country with excess taxation and hamper business revival.

To this claim I would like to draw an example of what I believe the bonus will do.

The granting of a bonus—from one billion to five billion dollars—will mean in an economic sense the taking of this money from the United States treasury and the placing of it in the hands of our men who fought "over there."

This money value or economic utility passes merely from one owner to another. There is no actual consumption, the value still exists.

Now, as to business revival, does anyone doubt that this money will be used in trade by its new owners? Will this new source of trade mean anything? Does any economist doubt that this new buying power, this new source of value looking for goods in the United States markets, will do anything but stimulate trade and help toward a "business revival?"

Now, as to taxation: I do not see any attention to Federal Reserve Banks holdings. They have a big surplus of money with no users. In the event of a bonus the United States Government will issue certificates of indebtedness and this money will go out of the vaults into trade channels.

As for the payment of the nation's indebtedness from this new liability, I call attention to the fact that this is the richest nation in the world, certainly capable, in view of its great economic values, of paying this new source of taxation.

SCIENTIST TELLS OF EARTH'S MOTION

By Garrett P. Serviss,

"In one of your articles you said that the earth travelled toward a northerly point twelve and one-half miles a second. As the earth travels around the sun and also spins on its axis, how do you account for its third motion?—D. J. R., Torrington, Ct.

I SAID that the earth travels together with the sun, toward a point in the northern sky not far from the star Vega. As I have also repeatedly said, this motion is shared by all the planets and other bodies revolving around the sun. It is a motion of the solar system as a whole. But the sun, being the gravitational centre of the system, and possessing several hundred times more mass than all the planets combined, is the principal body concerned.

The velocity of this general motion of the solar system, about twelve and one-half miles per second, is two-thirds of the velocity with which the earth travels around the sun. The two velocities are combined so that the real track of the earth in space is a spiral of the form called a helix, which resembles in shape the coiled spring used in some air guns.

Cause of Curved Track

The edge of the thread of a screw traces out a helix. If you suppose the sun to be moving longitudinally straight along the centre of a high-pitch screw, then the earth would be keeping abreast of the sun by following the outer edge of the screw-thread.

The rotation of the earth on its axis is independent of its motion around and with the sun, although it may have originated from the same general cause. Similarly the spin of a bullet fired from a rifle is independent of its curved trajectory, which is the result of a combination of the projectile velocity imparted by the powder and the geocentric (toward the earth's centre) velocity imparted by gravity. Like the helical path of the earth, the curved track of the bullet is the resultant of the combination of two simultaneous velocities having different, but not opposite, directions.

Spin May Alter Direction

In the case of a projectile like a baseball, the spin of the moving body may alter the direction of flight, but this is due to reaction between the spinning body and the resisting air through which it travels. The rotation of the earth has no such effect upon the direction of its motion because there is no resisting medium in interplanetary space.

In consequence, too, of the absence of a resisting medium, the sun is not compelled to drag the earth after it, but the earth keeps along with the sun by retaining the original impulse, whatever its source may have been, which set the whole solar system traveling in an apparently straight line through space. Except for the overwhelming superiority of the sun to the planets in size, the solar system's flight through space might be likened to that of a charge of shot; they keep together, but every pellet has its own forward motion. And if something causes them to revolve around a common centre as they fly, that will not interfere in any way with their onward motion as a group.

VOLCANOES, EXTINCT, ACTIVE AND YOU

By Dr. Charles Fleischer

NOT exactly a pleasant question to ask any one—namely, whether you are an extinct volcano or an active one.

To characterize you as an extinct volcano might be a polite way of calling you "a dead one." And to compare you to an active volcano is to suggest that you are an elemental thing, of eruptive temperament, at least menacing, if not actually belching forth lava flow of temper and passion.

Well, something of that sort—partly better and partly worse—was actually intended in the query.

To get rid of the extinct volcano first—and making sure incidentally that it does not typify YOU—note how readily it suggests something that has been and has petered out, a geologically historic fact, which once was significant, but has no future beyond playing the part of a landmark.

If the description does not fit you, please realize pitifully how many whom you know or have observed would be fairly characterized in some such fashion.

Think of the number of persons whose fires have died out, practically defunct, living dead ones, promissory notes gone to protest, pathetic failures lagging superfluous on the exacting Stage of Life.

Do not mock or scorn them, but drop a sympathetic tear for the vanquished not yet vanished into merciful oblivion.

Individual persons are not the only human phenomena suggested by the extinct volcano. There are social institutions and traditional ideas that also belong in this category.

Then Cease to Be

One needs to take a fairly distant look down the long vista of time, in order to understand how literally true it is that our little systems have their day—and cease to be.

For instance, it is easy in Mexico to recognize that the Aztec religion is extinct, and to see the numerous relics as picturesque reminders of a once significant and powerful civilization, now more truly dead beyond resurrection than Popocatapetl itself, which still "smokes up" on occasion.

Likewise, still speaking of actual volcanoes, there is Vesuvius, occasionally bursting forth; but Herculaneum and Pompeii are dead and buried at its feet, and with them the beliefs and practices once so precious to those happy-hearted, pleasure-loving inhabitants of Southern Italy.

On the heights of the Acropolis in Athens stand ruins of the Parthenon and other temples, lovely in decay, but mere mute symbols of the glory that was the Greece of old. The Greek people may survive but not their ancient faith, nor—alas! the spirit that give us the immortal works of their architects, sculptors, philosophers, and poets.

These are relatively telescopic views. Looking nearer, it is not so easy to catalogue the "extinct volcanoes"; and only a little less difficult to name the social institutions and traditional ideas which are well advanced on the way to extinction.

There are, however, such ideas and institutions, political, religious and economic, which represent a past once throbbingly alive, but which are plainly, though reluctantly, dying long, slow, lingering death—volcanoes almost extinct.

Again, one wishes to be neither irreverant nor unsympathetic, as one objectively records the obvious fact that some vital institutions and ideas inevitably lost their reason for existence.

On the other hand deliberately ignoring its destructive suggestion and purposely forgetting the superficial analogy of wild and consuming passion, the active volcano becomes a fascinating symbol of, life, elemental and irrepressible.

The Sun and Fire

It kindles the imagination, to follow downward the little wisp of white smoke that curls out of Mt. Etna and to arrive finally at the central fires which melt the flaming story of our planet's origin and roar the song of our kinship with the blazing sun, the center of our system.

Further to follow the figure, and applying it to Man and the organization of his life, Ralph Waldo Emerson is deeply and everlastingly right, when he tells us that, out from the heart of nature rolled the burdens of the Bible old, and the litanies of nations came, like the volcano's tongue of flame, up from the burning core below.

In the last analysis, all human institutions were inevitable and sincere in their origin. Once ther were lava springing out of the very heart of Man.

So our American Democracy and Universal Democracy were born of the flaming soul of Spiritual Revolution.

But when lava cools, it becomes a killing crust; and its only further use is to disintegrate and crumble and turn into fertilizing dust, amazingly fruitful in its further potency, when planted with the seeds of new life and watered and worked with faith and hope and consecrated striving.

Think out the analogy for yourself. And remember that Man himself has his burning kinship with the Eternal.
